Doctors Fight To Save Runaway Spy's Life

Soblen's Heart Weakens; Wife At His Bedside

LONDON (AP)—Dr. Robert Soblen remained in his drug-induced coma early Saturday. Doctors kept a round-the-clock check on symtoms of heart exhaustion.

There was no sign Soblen was responding to the treatment administered since he lapsed into the coma on his way to London Airport Thursday morning.

Soblen's wife Dina, like him a New York psychiatrist, flew in from New York and was permitted to spend a few hours in his Hillingdon Hospital bedroom.

Two medical bulletins summarized the condition of the 61-year-old spy. At 10:20 a.m., the hospital announced that Soblen "remains unconscious. His heart is showing signs of exhaustion. His condition gives rise to anxiety."

Six hours later came the announcement that Soblen's "condition is unchanged. He is still unconscious."

Wife Put Up Bail

Mrs. Soblen, whose professional name is Dr. Dina Soble, made her trip to be near Soblen through the crisis he brought on Thursday by swallowing an overdose of barbiturates to avert deportation to the United States for life imprisonment.

She personally put up $40,000 and borrowed $60,000 to make up the $100,000 bail Soblen forfeited when he fled the United States June 25. A member of Soblen's London legal team said she had to get money from friends for the plane fare.

A small group of British pickets demonstrated in Whitehall, the government district of London, on behalf of the Communist-oriented fugitive convicted of smuggling U.S. secrets to the Soviet Union in World War II.

Search Turned Up No Drugs

Soblen collapsed while being driven in an ambulance to the New York-bound plane which was to take him from Britain on a Home Office deportation order.

For two months he had used various legal devices to stay on in Britain, where he was landed July 1 after slashing his wrist and his stomach on his way back from Israel, which refused to admit him as a Jewish immigrant. After jumping bail in New York he flew to Israel on the passport of a dead brother.

Still unsolved is how he got the drugs.

While in Brixton Prison Hospital Soblen was once found with a store of drugs hidden under his mattress. They were taken away.

Officers who stripped and searched him for the ambulance trip found nothing.

Shots Fired Through La. School Door

Picketing, Bomb Threats Continue At New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Shots crashed through the glass front door of one of the New Orleans Archdiocese's newly desegregated schools about dawn Friday. For the most part, however, the scene was quiet.

Bomb threats, pickets and crowds of jeering and booing white people continued as this Deep South city neared the end of the first week of its biggest school desegregation — a total of about 300 Negroes in 20 public schools and 36 parochial schools.

But the crowds were dwindling in size and energy from Thursday.

Attendance was up at all but two of the desegregated public schools. No figures were available on the parochial schools.

One parochial school closed unexpectedly—the Our Lady of Good Harbor at Buras, where five Negroes enrolled on opening day last week and haven't been back since. The parish priest, the Rev. Christopher Schneider, said simply: "Nobody showed up." He declined further comment.

The shooting occurred at the St. Rosalie Elementary School in the Harvey community across the Mississippi River from New Orleans.

Nobody was reported hurt and the school opened as usual a few hours later with a piece of cardboard over the door.

"We don't know how many shots were fired and we don't know who fired them," said a spokesman for the archdiocese.

The rash of false bomb threats continued, forcing the temporary evacuation of a Negro public school, McDonogh 19, and a Roman Catholic church. In both cases, authorities checked the buildings and okayed them for use.

A crowd of 150 to 200 white persons gathered at the St. Raphael Catholic School, where several white parents withdrew their children when a Negro girl enrolled Thursday.

Three of them carried signs. One read: "If segregation was not sinful in 1954, why is it now?"

At Westwego, outside New Orleans and also across the river, the crowd numbered about 50 at the opening of Our Lady of Prompt Succor Catholic School—about half the size of Thursday's crowd—and fell off to about 25 later.

Quick Action On Kennedy's Request Seen

JFK Asks Standby Authority In View Of Cuba And Berlin

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy, faced with what the White House termed a critical international situation, asked Congress on Friday for standby authority to call 90,000 Reservists to active duty.

The President's request is likely to be granted speedily, but there was no indication at the Pentagon that any immediate call-up of Reservists or National Guardsmen is planned.

Congress members of both parties have been growing daily more vocal in demanding that some action be taken to counter the Communist military buildup in Cuba.

The White House did not limit the scope of its request to the Cuban problem, however, but spoke of the "general international situation."

In a letter sending the proposed legislation to Congress, Kennedy said: "In my judgment this renewed authorization is necessary to permit prompt and effective responses, as necessary, to challenges which may be presented in any part of the free world, and I hope that the Congress will give its prompt support for this authorization, as it did so effectively a year ago."

145,000 Called Up Year Ago

It was just about a year ago that nearly 145,000 National Guardsmen and Reservists were called ot active duty in the Berlin crisis, and this problem has been heating up again.

The authority voted a year ago to call up the Reservists expired on July 1.

Most of the men in last year's callup have been returned to civilian life during the past couple of months. Members of the Reserve who were ordered to active duty involuntarily last fall could not be called again in the possible new buildup unless they volunteer.

In addition to placing a ceiling of 150,000 men from the Reserves of all the armed forces, Kennedy's proposed new authority would limit the period of service to 12 months or less.

The new authority would run from the time Congress adjourns, now expected to be some time next month, until Feb. 28, 1963, which would be about two months after the next session begins.

During that time the secretary of defense could extend the terms of service of the Reservists for not more than 12 months.

Request Gets GOP Support

Republican as well as Democratic backing for the President's request was assured when Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, the senior GOP member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, announced he would join with Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga. in sponsoring it in the Senate.

"Certainly we should give the President this authority, if he feels it will be helpful to maintain the security of our country," Saltonstall said.

Russell told reporters his committee will take up the legislation "at the earliest possible date next week and, in my opinion, there is no question Congress will grant the President this authority."

"The situation in Cuba and Berlin is so critical," Russell said, "that we cannot afford to fail to take steps necessary to maintain and safeguard our national security."

Even before Kennedy announced he was submitting his request to Congress, the Senate-House Republican leadership pro-

Marshall Wins Senate Group Endorsement

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thurgood Marshall, Negro whom President Kennedy nominated nearly a year ago to be a federal appellate judge, finally won approval Friday of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

But the battle against confirmation of the former chief counsel of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is expected to be carried to the Senate floor when the nomination is brought up there.

The committee vote recommending confirmation was 11 to 4. Those opposed were Democratic Sens. James O. Eastland of Mississippi, Olin D. Johnston of South Carolina, Sam J. Ervin Jr. of North Carolina and John L. McClellan of Arkansas.

Johnston was asked by newsmen if Southern foes of Marshall would filibuster against confirmation. The Carolina senator replied: "I don't know yet." He said that he and other Southerners had not discussed their plans.

Marshall, 54, Baltimore-born son of a dining car steward and a schoolteacher, became known to the Negro press as "Mr. Civil Rights." He argued civil rights cases before the U.S. Supreme Court at least 30 times and won in all but three instances. His biggest victory was the 1954 school integration decision.

It was on Sept. 23 last year that Kennedy first nominated Marshall to the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, which handles cases in Vermont, Connecticut and New York. Congress adjourned four days afterward. In October the President gave Marshall a recess appointment and he has been serving on the court since on a temporary basis.

Kennedy resubmitted the nomination to Congress on Jan. 15 this year but action had been held up in the Judiciary Committee and a subcommittee headed by Johnston.

Senate Passes Bill To Set Up Pensions For Self-Employed

Watered-Down Version Voted 75-4

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate, by a 75-4 margin, passed a much-diluted version Friday of the controversial bill which would permit self-employed persons to set up tax-deductible private pension funds.

This legislation has been bouncing around Congress for a dozen years and has passed the House three times. But previously the Senate rejected it even after watering down the provisions to pacify stiff opposition from both the Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations.

On passage only Sens. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., Albert Gore, D-Tenn., Pat McNamara, D-Mich., and Wayne Morse, D-Ore., voted against the bill.

Many of the amendments the Senate tied to the House-approved measure are unacceptable to backers of the legislation. They are hoping these will be dropped or toned down in the Senate-House Conference Committee that will work over the bill.

However, there is no assurance President Kennedy will find any version of the legislation acceptable. Some backers claim they have the strength to override any veto, provided Congress can finish the bill far enough ahead of adjournment.

The measure has drawn heavy support from doctohs, lawyers and other professional men, along with many independent businessmen. Sponsors said it would help seven million self-employed and millions of their employes.

As passed by the Senate, the bill would permit a self-employed person to put up to 10 per cent of his income into the plan up to a maximum of $2,500. But under an amendment by Sens. Russell B. Long, D-La., and Eugene J McCarthy, D-Minn., only half of this contribution could be taken as a tax deduction. The House version had the same ceiling but would have permitted 100 per cent deduction.

Long said his and McCarthy's amendment would prevent a presidential veto.

As the bill cleared the Senate it would cut income tax revenues an estimated $35 million a year.

These are the three other major amendments adopted by the Senate:

—By McCarthy, to apply to owner-manager pension plans the same limits on deduction included in the bill for the self-employed. This was estimated to recoup $65 million in Treasury revenue.

(Owner-managers are those who own more than per cent of the stock of a corporation. They are mostly small, closely held corporations. The Treasury says these plans hold many tax-evasion possibilities.)

—By Gore, to end the capital gains tax treatment allowed to beneficiaries of corporation pension plans who take lump sum payment when they retire. Instead normal income tax rates would apply but averaged over a five-year period.

—By Gore, to place a limit of 10 per cent of an employe'ssalary, up to $5,000 ceiling, on a company's annual contribution to a pension plan for an executive, with a lifetime $250,000 limit.

Nationalist China Severs Laos Ties

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) —Nationalist China broke off diplomatic relations Friday with Laos because of that Southeast Asian kingdom's decision to recognize Communist China.

The Laotian coalition government also recognized Communist North Viet Nam. South Viet Nam's reaction is expected to be similar to that of Nationalist China.

The Laotian regime opened formal relations with Czechoslovakia Thursday and is expected soon to do the same with other Communist-bloc nations.

Laos has had diplomatic ties with the Soviet Union for years.

Senate Probers Decide To Hear Steel Officials

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee on Friday gave executives of four steel companies a chance to appear before it and explain why they feel they should not be cited for contempt of Congress.

The committee's Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee voted such a citation last Friday when the steel men refused to honor subpoenas calling on them to produce manufacturing cost data.

But instead of voting on the subcommittee's request for approval of the citation, the parent committee in closed session Friday decided to hear the company executives in public next Wednesday.

The steel executives already had requested such a hearing in a letter to the committee chairman, Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss.

The companies involved are Bethlehem, Republic, National and Armco.

Their refusal to produce the requested records is based on a claim that if the data became public or otherwise reaches their domestic and foreign competitors, they would be seriously damaged in a business way. They argue additionally that no legitimate legislative purpose would be served by making the records available.

Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., chairman of the subcommittee, insists, however, that the fears of disclosure are unfounded.

He says the plan is to have the figures submitted directly to the General Accounting Office where they would be analyzed in groups of three and averaged out with the companies identified only by letters. Kefauver claims not even the subcommittee members will know the figures for any individual company.

The protesting companies claim these safeguards are inadequate because cost accountants could break down the data made public and get company figures.

Disarm Parley Recessed; No Progress Made

GENEVA (AP)—The 17-nation disarmament conference adopted a "no progress" report to the U.N. General Assembly today and then recessed until Nov. 12. The United States and the Soviet Union are deadlocked on disarmament and a nuclear test ban.

The two powers vowed to press their clashing proposals when discussion of these issues is taken up by the assembly which convenes Sept. 18.

The chief U.S. delegate, Arthur H. Dean, and the Soviet deputy foreign minister, Vasily V. Kuznetsov, devoted their final speeches before the six-month-old conference to assailing each other's positions.

Dean urged the Soviet Union to reconsider its rejection of compulsory on-site inspections, one major issue which has caused the long deadlock. The United States insists on them to prevent cheating on either a disarmament or a nuclear test ban treaty.

The Soviet response, repeated endlessly, is that such inspections would be used as a cover for spying and jeopardize national security.

"We cannot, dare not, go on for years without demonstrating tangible, specific and meaningful progress," Dean warned.

The United States earlier rushed through a proposal, with Soviet acceptance, to keep the U.S., Soviet and British nuclear subcommittee meeting here during the recess in an effort to work out some compromise solution.

Arthur Lall of India threw his country's support behind a Mexican suggestion that the conference meet in New York during the next two months if necessary. No decision was taken.

The Soviet Union is reported hoping for support at the United Nations for its proposal of an unpoliced moratorium on nuclear testing. Already, five of the eight neutral nations here—India, Nigeria, Burma, Ethiopia and the United Arab Republic—have indicated support for this.

Johnson Ends Tour At Vatican

ROME (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson met with Pope John XXIII on Friday then concluded his six-nation goodwill mission with a warning that the West must help the poor countries of the world or die.

Johnson issued his warning just before flying home and after emerging from an unusually long private audience with the Pope. The audience, a highlight of the vice president's 15-day tour of the Middle East and southern Europe, lasted 41 minutes—twice as long as planned. They discussed the need to wipe out hunger, illiteracy and illness.

Afterward, in the last formal speech of his tour, Johnson appealed for wealthier nations to help underdeveloped countries. He spoke at a joint luncheon of the American Men's Club and American Chamber of Commerce and referred to his meeting with the Pope. He called it "the most impressive discussion on matters affecting humankind that I have ever experienced in my 54 years."

Poisonous Bean Warning Issued

BOSTON (AP)—The Massachusetts commissioner of public health issued a warning Friday against what it said was peril from an extremely poisonous bean from Haiti, used for necklaces, clothing ornamentation and novelty adornments.

Dr. Alfred L. Frechette said the chewing of a single bean will be followed by violent sickness within hours and can result in death within 12 days. He said thousands of necklaces made from the poisonous beans have been sold in Massachusetts.

He described it as "the jequirty bean" and said it poses an especial threat to children because they frequently chew on necklaces and other ornaments. He said piercing of the hard shell of the bean for use in ornamentation permits easy ingestion of the poison inside.

While State Food and Drug Division inspectors believe they have removed most of such necklaces from stores, some may still be on sale.

Ferry Upsets; 20 Die

SEOUL, Korea (UPI)—A ferry barge capsized Friday when terror-stricken passengers crowded to one side as it drifted helplessly down the rain-swollen Han River. Police said "about 20" of the 53 men, women and children dumped into the turbulent currents drowned.

British See Danger In Slimming Drug

WASHINGTON (AP)—A British medical magazine said Friday a drug used in slimming pills in that country may possibly be a crippler of unborn children. U.S. Food and Drug Administration officials said they have no such evidence.

The herbal drug, known as podophyllum, is used in some laxatives which are sold over the counter in this country and in Canada without a prescription. It is used in laxative and slimming tablets similarly sold over the counter in British drug stores.

The British medical magazine Lancet published a letter from Dr. J. E. Cullis of Dorset, England, saying a 24-year-old woman gave birth to a badly deformed baby after taking several slimming tablets containing podophyllum.

The magazine said podophyllum may affect the nerves somewhat as does the sleep-inducing drug thalidomide, which has been blamed for deformities in thousands of babies born in Europe.

Five Seized, Six Sought In Attack On De Gaulle

PARIS (UPI) — The French government Friday announced the capture of the ringleader and four other members of the Secret Army killer-commandos who came within inches of assassinating President Charles de Gaulle in a machinegun ambush two weeks ago.

Interior Minister Roger Frey made the announcement at a news conference in which he disclosed that 1 million persons were interrogated in the hunt for the terrorists.

Frey said six other terrorists who took part in the attack on a dark road outside Paris have been identified and are being sought "energetically" by police.

He said the 11-man commando squad not only had orders to kill De Gaulle but to kill his wife and all other occupants of the presidential motorcade on the way from the Elysee Palace to the suburban Villacoublay military airfield on the evening of Aug. 22.

"If the cars had halted, it would have been sheer butchery," Frey said.

Three of those being sought were identified as Jean Pierre Naudin, 20, who acted as the lookout for the commando squad; Georges Watin, 40, known as "the man with the limp," and a man who rented three cars used in the ambush under the false name of "Jean Murat." Frey did not name the other three.

He said the investigation showed the ambush was organized by leaders of the outlawed terrorist Secret Army Organization (OAS) in France and was "controlled by long distance" from abroad.

Woman, Three Tots Perish In Home Fire

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—Three children and their grandmother died Friday in a fire in their home in northwest Albuquerque.

The mother of the three children was in an Albuquerque hospital giving birth to a fourth child when the tragedy occurred.

Killed in the fire were Melvina Zanchez, 43, and her three grandchildren, Hector Garcia, 3; Eva Marie Garcia, 2, and Anthony Garcia, 1.

Prices Up, Layoffs Begin In Farm Holding Action

CORNING, Iowa (AP) — Rising retail meat prices and layoffs of workers at some packing plants were reported Friday after a week of a National Farmers Organization drive to hold livestock from market.

Retail chain stores headquartered in Chicago and St. Louis, major packers and the U.S. Department of Agriculture said retail meat prices may be higher next week, reflecting boosts in wholesale prices. The increases may run as much as 10 to 15 cents a pound for certain cuts.

Opinions vary as to how much of the increase can be attributed to the NFO action, although it undoubtedly has been a factor in curtailing the supply of slaughter animals at the market.

Wilson & Co., reported it was laying off 18 hog slaughter employes at its Omaha plant and unspecified numbers of employes at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Minneapolis because of the drop in hog receipts.

Armour & Co., said it was reducing its force by 175 at Kansas City and by 200 at Jacob Decker & Sons, its subsidiary at Mason City, Iowa. Other cutbacks were ordered by the Oscar Mayer Packing Co. at Waterloo, Iowa; John Morrell & Co., Ottumwa, Iowa, and Dubuque (Iowa) Packing Co. than 600 employes are affected in the Iowa plants.

In Chicago, the U.S. Agriculture Department office reported receipts of cattle, hogs, sheep and lambs have lagged far behind receipts for the corresponding Labor Day week last year at 12 major markets.

New Class For Draft Called Up By Soviet

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Defense Ministry called up a new class for universal military service Friday, the Soviet news agency Tass announced.

Simultaneously, Tass added, men in the army, navy, frontier guard forces and troops of the interior who have completed their training were transferred to the reserve.

It appeared to be the regular annual callup under the Soviet conscription law, which requires every young man to serve a term in the armed forces.

There was nothing in the order indicating that anyone was being recalled to military duty. The class which has finished its term of service reverted to reserve status.

Many of the amendments the Senate tied to the House-approved measure are unacceptable to backers of the legislation. They are hoping these will be dropped or toned down in the Senate-House Conference Committee that will work over the bill.

However, there is no assurance President Kennedy will find any version of the legislation acceptable. Some backers claim they have the strength to override any veto, provided Congress can finish the bill far enough ahead of adjournment.

The measure has drawn heavy support from doctohs, lawyers and other professional men, along with many independent businessmen. Sponsors said it would help seven million self-employed and millions of their employes.

As passed by the Senate, the bill would permit a self-employed person to put up to 10 per cent of his income into the plan up to a maximum of $2,500. But under an amendment by Sens. Russell B. Long, D-La., and Eugene J McCarthy, D-Minn., only half of this contribution could be taken as a tax deduction. The House version had the same ceiling but would have permitted 100 per cent deduction.

Long said his and McCarthy's amendment would prevent a presidential veto.

As the bill cleared the Senate it would cut income tax revenues an estimated $35 million a year.

These are the three other major amendments adopted by the Senate:

—By McCarthy, to apply to owner-manager pension plans the same limits on deduction included in the bill for the self-employed. This was estimated to recoup $65 million in Treasury revenue.

(Owner-managers are those who own more than per cent of the stock of a corporation. They are mostly small, closely held corporations. The Treasury says these plans hold many tax-evasion possibilities.)

—By Gore, to end the capital gains tax treatment allowed to beneficiaries of corporation pension plans who take lump sum payment when they retire. Instead normal income tax rates would apply but averaged over a five-year period.

—By Gore, to place a limit of 10 per cent of an employe'ssalary, up to $5,000 ceiling, on a company's annual contribution to a pension plan for an executive, with a lifetime $250,000 limit.

Nationalist China Severs Laos Ties

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) —Nationalist China broke off diplomatic relations Friday with Laos because of that Southeast Asian kingdom's decision to recognize Communist China.

The Laotian coalition government also recognized Communist North Viet Nam. South Viet Nam's reaction is expected to be similar to that of Nationalist China.

The Laotian regime opened formal relations with Czechoslovakia Thursday and is expected soon to do the same with other Communist-bloc nations.

Laos has had diplomatic ties with the Soviet Union for years.

Senate Probers Decide To Hear Steel Officials

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee on Friday gave executives of four steel companies a chance to appear before it and explain why they feel they should not be cited for contempt of Congress.

The committee's Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee voted such a citation last Friday when the steel men refused to honor subpoenas calling on them to produce manufacturing cost data.

But instead of voting on the subcommittee's request for approval of the citation, the parent committee in closed session Friday decided to hear the company executives in public next Wednesday.

The steel executives already had requested such a hearing in a letter to the committee chairman, Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss.

The companies involved are Bethlehem, Republic, National and Armco.

Their refusal to produce the requested records is based on a claim that if the data became public or otherwise reaches their domestic and foreign competitors, they would be seriously damaged in a business way. They argue additionally that no legitimate legislative purpose would be served by making the records available.

Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., chairman of the subcommittee, insists, however, that the fears of disclosure are unfounded.

He says the plan is to have the figures submitted directly to the General Accounting Office where they would be analyzed in groups of three and averaged out with the companies identified only by letters. Kefauver claims not even the subcommittee members will know the figures for any individual company.

The protesting companies claim these safeguards are inadequate because cost accountants could break down the data made public and get company figures.

Poisonous Bean Warning Issued

BOSTON (AP)—The Massachusetts commissioner of public health issued a warning Friday against what it said was peril from an extremely poisonous bean from Haiti, used for necklaces, clothing ornamentation and novelty adornments.

Dr. Alfred L. Frechette said the chewing of a single bean will be followed by violent sickness within hours and can result in death within 12 days. He said thousands of necklaces made from the poisonous beans have been sold in Massachusetts.

He described it as "the jequirty bean" and said it poses an especial threat to children because they frequently chew on necklaces and other ornaments. He said piercing of the hard shell of the bean for use in ornamentation permits easy ingestion of the poison inside.

While State Food and Drug Division inspectors believe they have removed most of such necklaces from stores, some may still be on sale.

Disarm Parley Recessed; No Progress Made

GENEVA (AP)—The 17-nation disarmament conference adopted a "no progress" report to the U.N. General Assembly today and then recessed until Nov. 12. The United States and the Soviet Union are deadlocked on disarmament and a nuclear test ban.

The two powers vowed to press their clashing proposals when discussion of these issues is taken up by the assembly which convenes Sept. 18.

The chief U.S. delegate, Arthur H. Dean, and the Soviet deputy foreign minister, Vasily V. Kuznetsov, devoted their final speeches before the six-month-old conference to assailing each other's positions.

Dean urged the Soviet Union to reconsider its rejection of compulsory on-site inspections, one major issue which has caused the long deadlock. The United States insists on them to prevent cheating on either a disarmament or a nuclear test ban treaty.

The Soviet response, repeated endlessly, is that such inspections would be used as a cover for spying and jeopardize national security.

"We cannot, dare not, go on for years without demonstrating tangible, specific and meaningful progress," Dean warned.

The United States earlier rushed through a proposal, with Soviet acceptance, to keep the U.S., Soviet and British nuclear subcommittee meeting here during the recess in an effort to work out some compromise solution.

Arthur Lall of India threw his country's support behind a Mexican suggestion that the conference meet in New York during the next two months if necessary. No decision was taken.

The Soviet Union is reported hoping for support at the United Nations for its proposal of an unpoliced moratorium on nuclear testing. Already, five of the eight neutral nations here—India, Nigeria, Burma, Ethiopia and the United Arab Republic—have indicated support for this.

Ferry Upsets; 20 Die

SEOUL, Korea (UPI)—A ferry barge capsized Friday when terror-stricken passengers crowded to one side as it drifted helplessly down the rain-swollen Han River. Police said "about 20" of the 53 men, women and children dumped into the turbulent currents drowned.

Johnson Ends Tour At Vatican

ROME (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson met with Pope John XXIII on Friday then concluded his six-nation goodwill mission with a warning that the West must help the poor countries of the world or die.

Johnson issued his warning just before flying home and after emerging from an unusually long private audience with the Pope. The audience, a highlight of the vice president's 15-day tour of the Middle East and southern Europe, lasted 41 minutes—twice as long as planned. They discussed the need to wipe out hunger, illiteracy and illness.

Afterward, in the last formal speech of his tour, Johnson appealed for wealthier nations to help underdeveloped countries. He spoke at a joint luncheon of the American Men's Club and American Chamber of Commerce and referred to his meeting with the Pope. He called it "the most impressive discussion on matters affecting humankind that I have ever experienced in my 54 years."

Five Seized, Six Sought In Attack On De Gaulle

PARIS (UPI) — The French government Friday announced the capture of the ringleader and four other members of the Secret Army killer-commandos who came within inches of assassinating President Charles de Gaulle in a machinegun ambush two weeks ago.

Interior Minister Roger Frey made the announcement at a news conference in which he disclosed that 1 million persons were interrogated in the hunt for the terrorists.

Frey said six other terrorists who took part in the attack on a dark road outside Paris have been identified and are being sought "energetically" by police.

He said the 11-man commando squad not only had orders to kill De Gaulle but to kill his wife and all other occupants of the presidential motorcade on the way from the Elysee Palace to the suburban Villacoublay military airfield on the evening of Aug. 22.

"If the cars had halted, it would have been sheer butchery," Frey said.

Three of those being sought were identified as Jean Pierre Naudin, 20, who acted as the lookout for the commando squad; Georges Watin, 40, known as "the man with the limp," and a man who rented three cars used in the ambush under the false name of "Jean Murat." Frey did not name the other three.

He said the investigation showed the ambush was organized by leaders of the outlawed terrorist Secret Army Organization (OAS) in France and was "controlled by long distance" from abroad.

Woman, Three Tots Perish In Home Fire

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—Three children and their grandmother died Friday in a fire in their home in northwest Albuquerque.

The mother of the three children was in an Albuquerque hospital giving birth to a fourth child when the tragedy occurred.

Killed in the fire were Melvina Zanchez, 43, and her three grandchildren, Hector Garcia, 3; Eva Marie Garcia, 2, and Anthony Garcia, 1.

British See Danger In Slimming Drug

WASHINGTON (AP)—A British medical magazine said Friday a drug used in slimming pills in that country may possibly be a crippler of unborn children. U.S. Food and Drug Administration officials said they have no such evidence.

The herbal drug, known as podophyllum, is used in some laxatives which are sold over the counter in this country and in Canada without a prescription. It is used in laxative and slimming tablets similarly sold over the counter in British drug stores.

The British medical magazine Lancet published a letter from Dr. J. E. Cullis of Dorset, England, saying a 24-year-old woman gave birth to a badly deformed baby after taking several slimming tablets containing podophyllum.

The magazine said podophyllum may affect the nerves somewhat as does the sleep-inducing drug thalidomide, which has been blamed for deformities in thousands of babies born in Europe.

Prices Up, Layoffs Begin In Farm Holding Action

CORNING, Iowa (AP) — Rising retail meat prices and layoffs of workers at some packing plants were reported Friday after a week of a National Farmers Organization drive to hold livestock from market.

Retail chain stores headquartered in Chicago and St. Louis, major packers and the U.S. Department of Agriculture said retail meat prices may be higher next week, reflecting boosts in wholesale prices. The increases may run as much as 10 to 15 cents a pound for certain cuts.

Opinions vary as to how much of the increase can be attributed to the NFO action, although it undoubtedly has been a factor in curtailing the supply of slaughter animals at the market.

Wilson & Co., reported it was laying off 18 hog slaughter employes at its Omaha plant and unspecified numbers of employes at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Minneapolis because of the drop in hog receipts.

Armour & Co., said it was reducing its force by 175 at Kansas City and by 200 at Jacob Decker & Sons, its subsidiary at Mason City, Iowa. Other cutbacks were ordered by the Oscar Mayer Packing Co. at Waterloo, Iowa; John Morrell & Co., Ottumwa, Iowa, and Dubuque (Iowa) Packing Co. than 600 employes are affected in the Iowa plants.

In Chicago, the U.S. Agriculture Department office reported receipts of cattle, hogs, sheep and lambs have lagged far behind receipts for the corresponding Labor Day week last year at 12 major markets.

New Class For Draft Called Up By Soviet

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Defense Ministry called up a new class for universal military service Friday, the Soviet news agency Tass announced.

Simultaneously, Tass added, men in the army, navy, frontier guard forces and troops of the interior who have completed their training were transferred to the reserve.

It appeared to be the regular annual callup under the Soviet conscription law, which requires every young man to serve a term in the armed forces.

There was nothing in the order indicating that anyone was being recalled to military duty. The class which has finished its term of service reverted to reserve status.

Maryland Appeals Court Opens Fall Term Monday

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Maryland Court of Appeals returns Monday to begin work on a fall docket that already includes 201 cases.

J. Lloyd Young, chief clerk, said Friday the number probably will reach a record total of 375 cases before the term ends next June. Last year 356 appeals were docketed in the heaviest case load so far.

Of the cases already docketed, 69 involve criminal offenses. Young described the number as unusually large.

Three are capital punishment cases, compared to 34 involving the death penalty at the court's last term. Appealing first degree murder convictions are Walter Thomas Williams from Anne Arundel County, Herbert A. Thompson from Baltimore City and James Omar Tull from Dorchester County.

Six cases involving sit-in demonstrations are also on the docket following a year of brisk integration activities.

The court interrupted its summer recess to hear two cases advanced from fall term. In one, it held that seats in the Maryland Senate did not have to be apportioned a population basis and is to set forth its reason for this decision in an opinion expected to be filed early next week.

The other case, in which a decision also is expected Monday or Tuesday, will determine whether four legislative acts of the 1961 General Assembly will go before voters in the Nov. 6 election.

They were held off the ballot on a ruling by Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan that one invalid name on a petition voids the entire petition. Baltimore County Circuit Court held that only the name in question should be invalidated.

The first case to be heard by the court on its return Monday is a Baltimore City political dispute. It involves a Circuit Court ruling invalidating the nomination of Francis J. Valle as Democratic candidate for state's attorney succeeding the late Saul A. Harris. A full seven-judge court will hear the arguments starting at 10 a.m.

14 Md. Counties Declared Drought Disaster Areas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Agriculture designated 14 counties in Maryland Friday as drought disaster areas.

Gov. Tawes had requested the action a week ago. Since then, steady rains alleviated the drought in many of the counties, but some crops already had been stunted or ruined.

The counties are Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Calvert, Caroline, Carroll, Frederick, Harford, Howard, Montgomery, Prince Georges, Queen Anne, St. Marys, Talbot and Washington.

Army Chemist Killed In Crash

By The Associated Press

An Army colonel who was a chemist at the Aberdeen Proving Ground was killed in North Carolina Friday when his car struck a bridge abutment and plunged down an embankment.

The victim was Col. Harold L. Anderson, 52, traveling alone en route from Aberdeen to a military installation in Alabama. The accident happened on U.S. 15 four miles north of Durham, N.C.

Dr. D. R. Perry, Durham County coroner, said Col. Anderson had been dead about two hours when a farmer found his body at 7 a.m.

Dead was Miss Mary Ellen Wright, 16, of Baltimore, whose father, Millard F. Wright Jr., is manager of the F. S. Guano Royster Co.

John R. Chapman, 16, of Ruxton, suffered internal injuries and was in critical condition Friday in Sinai Hospital, Baltimore. His father, John R. Chapman Sr., is secretary-treasurer of the Curtis Engine and Equipment Co.

Dean Of Women At State College Beaten, Raped

SALISBURY (AP) — The dean of women at Maryland State College was beaten and raped Friday in a building on the college campus in Princess Anne.

Peninsula General Hospital in Salisbury said the dean, Mrs. Laura Smith Erving, 37, Negro, was in satisfactory condition.

Trooper First Class D. R. Ayers of Snow Hill said Mrs. Erving was attacked by several unidentified Negro males about 2 a.m. He said Mrs. Erving's assailants also took a 14-caret gold watch from her wrist.

The trooper quoted Mrs. Erving as saying she could not describe the men but was certain there were at least two of them.

Ayers said Mrs. Erving has an office and apartment in Murphy Hall, a women's dormitory. He said she heard a noise and when she walked out of her apartment into the hallway, her assailants threw a blanket over her head and attacked her.

Maryland State has not yet opened for the new school year.

Appeals Court Gets Valle Case

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Attorneys for Francis J. Valle have asked the Maryland Court of Appeals to reverse a Baltimore City decision voiding his nomination as state's attorney.

In briefs filed Friday with the high court, the attorneys contended Judge Emory H. Niles' ruling in Circuit Court should be overthrown on these grounds:

1. He lacked legal authority, in a court of equity, to hear and determine a "purely political" controversy.

2. Valle's nomination as a Democratic candidate could not be thrown out through a collateral attack on the qualifications of two state central committee members to hold their posts.

3. The acts of the two committeemen were performed prior to any effort to remove them.

4. The judge erred in ruling that the Maryland State Central Committee and not the Baltimore City Democratic committee, had authority to name a candidate for state's attorney in the city.

De Gaulle Calls For Closer Ties With Germany

HAMBURG, Germany (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle told the German Military Staff Academy on Friday that pooling of French and German resources would assure effective armed forces.

In the first speech on record by a French head of state to an audience of German officers, the visitor also said "organic coperatin" between French and German military forces is "indispensable" for the alliance between the two countries.

De Gaulle said, "The necessary armament capable of striking today requires scientific, technological, industrial and financial means and capabilities to a steadily growing extent."

"The sooner France and Germany pool their resources, the sooner they will have these capabilities," De Gaulle declared. "That will turn out to be true to an even greater extent if their European neighbors join them with their means."

Some of his listeners interpreted his words to call for German participation in French nuclear armament.

In an earlier news conference in Bonn, however, a West German government spokesman responded with a flat "no" to a question whether such participation was planned. The spokesman, Karl Guenther von Hase, said the subject had not been discussed in the talks between the French president and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Printer Asks Supreme Court Halt A-Plant

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Philadelphia printer is asking the Supreme Court to stop construction of a $24.5 million atomic power plant by 53 utility companies at Peach Bottom, Pa.

The complainant, 33-year-old Lawrence W. Goldberg, says the project violates antitrust laws and is inimical to the public safety.

Appealing from a ruling by the third circuit court in Philadelphia which upheld the building program, Goldberg asked the Supreme Court to set aside, suspend, modify or otherwise review an Atomic Energy Commission order granting the Philadelphia Electric Co. and the other utilities the right to put up the 40,000-kilowatt plant.

Goldberg's petition, filed this week by attorney Malcolm W. Berkowitz, says a corporation open to the public and not dominated by private utilities is needed to own and operate nuclear power plants for the protection of taxpayers.

The plant is being built along the Susquehanna River in York County, Pa., just across the Maryland line.

Two Slightly Hurt In Patuxent Crash

PATUXENT, Md. (AP) — A twin-engine Army observation plane with two men aboard crashed while practicing touch-and-go landings Friday at an auxiliary airport of Patuxent Naval Air Station.

A base spokesman said neither man was seriously injured, but both would be hospitalized 24 hours for observation.

The men were identified as Navy Lt. John W. Holtzclaw, 28, a student at the Patuxent Test Pilot School, and Marine Capt. Donald L. Harvey, 31, attached to Weapons Systems Test at the base.

Holtzclaw, who resides in Piney Point, Md., suffered a dislocated left shoulder and minor bruises and lacerations.

Harvey, who lives with his wife, Alyce, near Leonardtown, Md., received minor bruises.

RFK, Sponsors Disagree On Demo Dinner Purpose

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and the sponsors of a dinner for the Democratic candidate for governor of Wisconsin differed sharply Friday over the stated purposes of the Oct. 6 event.

The Friends of John W. Reynolds Committee announced the $50-a-plate event on behalf of Reynolds campaign several weeks ago, and Kennedy confirmed Friday that he would address it.

Edwin Guthman, Justice Department press officer, indicated that Kennedy had decided to depart from his announced no-politics position because he feels he owes a special political debt of gratitude to Reynolds, Wisconsin's present attorney general. Reynolds was the highest-ranking public official in Wisconsin to support President Kennedy during his 1960 primary campaign.

However, Kennedy followed Guthman's statement with one of his own, saying that his scheduled appearance would be no departure from his announced hands-off policy.

"It's a nonpolitical testimonial dinner," Kennedy said. "It's being given by the judges of the State Supreme Court, including Republicans."

At Madison, Wis., Chief Justice Timonthy Brown of Wisconsin said he was not a sponsor of the dinner, had not been approached on the subject and knew of no other justices being approached.

Robert B. Bittner of Green Bay, chairman of the sponsoring committee, said that, "Certainly all the money will be spent in behalf of John Reynolds' campaign."

Kennedy's Man Wins In N. Y.

NEW YORK (AP)—A renomination victory by Rep. Charles A. Buckley, Bronx Democratic leader, against a concerted reform drive to unseat him was the highlight Friday of the state's primary election.

The contest attracted special attention because of big name backers on opposite sides of the fence.

Buckley, 72, running for his 15th consecutive — and last — term in Congress, was endorsed by President Kennedy.

His opponent, David H. Levy, 35, a lawyer, was supported by Mayor Robert F. Wagner and reform leaders Herbert H. Lehman, former senator and governor, and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Buckley's opponents tabbed him as a "boss" who must go. They also accused him of being the congressional absentee champion.

But Kennedy, long a personal and political friend of Buckley, called him a consistent supporter of the administration.

Army's New Big Gun Highly Maneuverable

RENTON, Wash. (AP) — The Army has a new self-propelled artillery piece that can fire a shell 20 miles, ford streams four feet deep, and cruise 400 miles at up to 34 miles an hour.

The new weapon, at 58,000 pounds, is much lighter than its predecessors. It can be air transported any place.

The Army took delivery today of the first production model at Pacific Car & Foundry Co., which is building 235 of the guns under a $17-million contract.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Senate GOP leader, said adoption of such a resolution would show "a united front in the face of hostility, danger and challenge."

The Republican House Leader Rep. Charles A. HalleckofIndiana, pointed to Soviet shipments of arms and military technicians to Cuba and said the situation there is serious and getting worse.

"We believe it imperative for the Congress, the executive branch and the American people to unite in a calm, considered approach to meet this problem."

County Agent Head To Retire Feb. 1

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—The University of Maryland Extension Service announced Friday the retirment of John W. Magruder, county agent leader for the service.

Magruder will end 35 years of service with the university next Feb. 1.

A native of Gaithersburg, Magruder headed the county agent force for several years. He is a member of the American Society of Agronomists, the Maryland Grange and formerly secretary-treasurer of the Maryland Copr Improvement Association.

His retirement was announced by Dr. Paul E. Nystrom, director of the Extension Service.

Aging Conference Calls For Education Programs

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—The Maryland State Conference on Education for Elderly People recommended Friday increased adult education opportunities at state colleges and universities.

More than 300 delegates from various educational, medical and social organizations attended the two-day meeting on the University of Maryland campus.

Sen. Margaret C. Schweinhaut, D-Montgomery, chairman of the sponsoring State Coordinating Commission on Problems of the Aging, told delegates they should mobilize support at the local level and appeal to state legislators for assistance.

"We shall be knocking on the governor's door one day with plans for action," Mrs. Schweinhaut said.

The delegates suggested that all colleges and universities in Maryland be encouraged to offer on-campus and correspondence courses designed especially for the elderly, and courses to train people who want to work in the field of educating the elderly.

The conference also urged that federal and state matching funds be made available for developing a broader program of old-age education, and that the State Board of Education provide for such courses in their budget request.

Other recommendations included a proposal that an institute of gerontology be established at the University of Maryland for research and training in the field of old age, and a request that the state commission on aging ask the university to set up a research project with the U. S. Office of Education to determine how mass education for the aged can be achieved.

C&O Passenger Train Smacks Rear Of Freight

GOSHEN, Va. (UPI) —A Chesapeake and Ohio passenger train moving slowly as it approached a siding with its 125 sleepy passengers smacked into the rear of a freight train near here early Friday.

There were no injuries, but the two engines on the 16-car passenger liner, "Fast Flying Virginian" and six freight cars were jolted from the tracks but stayed upright.

"I felt a sudden jar," said West Virginia congressman Ken Hechler on his way to a weekend away from Washington. "My first thought was that we had hit an automobile."

Hechler was riding near the front of the train which approached the siding at about 20 miles an hour. It sideswiped a freight that was pulling off the main line to allow the passenger train to go through on its way from Washington west to Cincinnati.

The 125 passengers on the train were shuttled to Clifton Forge by buses where another train was made up and took them west.

Youth To Stand Trial In Slaying

FAIRFAX, Va. (AP)—John C. Vinson Jr., 17, was held Friday for grand jury action in the killing of a former 17-year-old classmate Saturday in Falls Church.

Fairfax Commonwealth's Atty. Robert C. Fitzgerald said a Fairfax County Juvenile Court judge waived jurisdiction over Vinson, and the youth was certified to stand trial as an adult in the slaying of Lewis Goldfein, an honor student at Falls Church High.

The court granted a motion by Vinson's attorney that news reporters be excluded from Friday's hearing.

County Police have said Vinson admitted shooting Goldfein in the victim's yard shortly after midnight Saturday. Detectives said the slain youth had set up a telescope for star gazing when he apparently discovered a prowler peeking through a side window at the Goldfein home.

Vinson is accused of being the prowler and of having shot Goldfein three times when the latter cornered him in the yard.

14 Md. Counties Declared Drought Disaster Areas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Agriculture designated 14 counties in Maryland Friday as drought disaster areas.

Gov. Tawes had requested the action a week ago. Since then, steady rains alleviated the drought in many of the counties, but some crops already had been stunted or ruined.

The counties are Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Calvert, Caroline, Carroll, Frederick, Harford, Howard, Montgomery, Prince Georges, Queen Anne, St. Marys, Talbot and Washington.

Army Chemist Killed In Crash

By The Associated Press

An Army colonel who was a chemist at the Aberdeen Proving Ground was killed in North Carolina Friday when his car struck a bridge abutment and plunged down an embankment.

The victim was Col. Harold L. Anderson, 52, traveling alone en route from Aberdeen to a military installation in Alabama. The accident happened on U.S. 15 four miles north of Durham, N.C.

Dr. D. R. Perry, Durham County coroner, said Col. Anderson had been dead about two hours when a farmer found his body at 7 a.m.

Dead was Miss Mary Ellen Wright, 16, of Baltimore, whose father, Millard F. Wright Jr., is manager of the F. S. Guano Royster Co.

John R. Chapman, 16, of Ruxton, suffered internal injuries and was in critical condition Friday in Sinai Hospital, Baltimore. His father, John R. Chapman Sr., is secretary-treasurer of the Curtis Engine and Equipment Co.

Dean Of Women At State College Beaten, Raped

SALISBURY (AP) — The dean of women at Maryland State College was beaten and raped Friday in a building on the college campus in Princess Anne.

Peninsula General Hospital in Salisbury said the dean, Mrs. Laura Smith Erving, 37, Negro, was in satisfactory condition.

Trooper First Class D. R. Ayers of Snow Hill said Mrs. Erving was attacked by several unidentified Negro males about 2 a.m. He said Mrs. Erving's assailants also took a 14-caret gold watch from her wrist.

The trooper quoted Mrs. Erving as saying she could not describe the men but was certain there were at least two of them.

Ayers said Mrs. Erving has an office and apartment in Murphy Hall, a women's dormitory. He said she heard a noise and when she walked out of her apartment into the hallway, her assailants threw a blanket over her head and attacked her.

Maryland State has not yet opened for the new school year.

Appeals Court Gets Valle Case

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Attorneys for Francis J. Valle have asked the Maryland Court of Appeals to reverse a Baltimore City decision voiding his nomination as state's attorney.

In briefs filed Friday with the high court, the attorneys contended Judge Emory H. Niles' ruling in Circuit Court should be overthrown on these grounds:

1. He lacked legal authority, in a court of equity, to hear and determine a "purely political" controversy.

2. Valle's nomination as a Democratic candidate could not be thrown out through a collateral attack on the qualifications of two state central committee members to hold their posts.

3. The acts of the two committeemen were performed prior to any effort to remove them.

4. The judge erred in ruling that the Maryland State Central Committee and not the Baltimore City Democratic committee, had authority to name a candidate for state's attorney in the city.

Why buy a station wagon when you can buy a Volkswagen?

Most people are astonished to discover the VW Station Wagon is only 7 inches longer than the VW Sedan, 4 feet shorter than other station wagons—yet holds more.

Nine people ride comfortably in a Volkswagen—with plenty of stretch room, space for a mountain of luggage.

In performance, the VW Station Wagon parallels the VW sedan. Famous air-cooled aluminum engine is in the back.

To sum up: the VW Station Wagon is 4 feet shorter than conventional wagons, yet holds more, costs less.

De Gaulle Calls For Closer Ties With Germany

HAMBURG, Germany (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle told the German Military Staff Academy on Friday that pooling of French and German resources would assure effective armed forces.

In the first speech on record by a French head of state to an audience of German officers, the visitor also said "organic coperatin" between French and German military forces is "indispensable" for the alliance between the two countries.

De Gaulle said, "The necessary armament capable of striking today requires scientific, technological, industrial and financial means and capabilities to a steadily growing extent."

"The sooner France and Germany pool their resources, the sooner they will have these capabilities," De Gaulle declared. "That will turn out to be true to an even greater extent if their European neighbors join them with their means."

Some of his listeners interpreted his words to call for German participation in French nuclear armament.

In an earlier news conference in Bonn, however, a West German government spokesman responded with a flat "no" to a question whether such participation was planned. The spokesman, Karl Guenther von Hase, said the subject had not been discussed in the talks between the French president and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Printer Asks Supreme Court Halt A-Plant

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Philadelphia printer is asking the Supreme Court to stop construction of a $24.5 million atomic power plant by 53 utility companies at Peach Bottom, Pa.

The complainant, 33-year-old Lawrence W. Goldberg, says the project violates antitrust laws and is inimical to the public safety.

Appealing from a ruling by the third circuit court in Philadelphia which upheld the building program, Goldberg asked the Supreme Court to set aside, suspend, modify or otherwise review an Atomic Energy Commission order granting the Philadelphia Electric Co. and the other utilities the right to put up the 40,000-kilowatt plant.

Goldberg's petition, filed this week by attorney Malcolm W. Berkowitz, says a corporation open to the public and not dominated by private utilities is needed to own and operate nuclear power plants for the protection of taxpayers.

The plant is being built along the Susquehanna River in York County, Pa., just across the Maryland line.

Two Slightly Hurt In Patuxent Crash

PATUXENT, Md. (AP) — A twin-engine Army observation plane with two men aboard crashed while practicing touch-and-go landings Friday at an auxiliary airport of Patuxent Naval Air Station.

A base spokesman said neither man was seriously injured, but both would be hospitalized 24 hours for observation.

The men were identified as Navy Lt. John W. Holtzclaw, 28, a student at the Patuxent Test Pilot School, and Marine Capt. Donald L. Harvey, 31, attached to Weapons Systems Test at the base.

Holtzclaw, who resides in Piney Point, Md., suffered a dislocated left shoulder and minor bruises and lacerations.

Harvey, who lives with his wife, Alyce, near Leonardtown, Md., received minor bruises.

RFK, Sponsors Disagree On Demo Dinner Purpose

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and the sponsors of a dinner for the Democratic candidate for governor of Wisconsin differed sharply Friday over the stated purposes of the Oct. 6 event.

The Friends of John W. Reynolds Committee announced the $50-a-plate event on behalf of Reynolds campaign several weeks ago, and Kennedy confirmed Friday that he would address it.

Edwin Guthman, Justice Department press officer, indicated that Kennedy had decided to depart from his announced no-politics position because he feels he owes a special political debt of gratitude to Reynolds, Wisconsin's present attorney general. Reynolds was the highest-ranking public official in Wisconsin to support President Kennedy during his 1960 primary campaign.

However, Kennedy followed Guthman's statement with one of his own, saying that his scheduled appearance would be no departure from his announced hands-off policy.

"It's a nonpolitical testimonial dinner," Kennedy said. "It's being given by the judges of the State Supreme Court, including Republicans."

At Madison, Wis., Chief Justice Timonthy Brown of Wisconsin said he was not a sponsor of the dinner, had not been approached on the subject and knew of no other justices being approached.

Robert B. Bittner of Green Bay, chairman of the sponsoring committee, said that, "Certainly all the money will be spent in behalf of John Reynolds' campaign."

Kennedy's Man Wins In N. Y.

NEW YORK (AP)—A renomination victory by Rep. Charles A. Buckley, Bronx Democratic leader, against a concerted reform drive to unseat him was the highlight Friday of the state's primary election.

The contest attracted special attention because of big name backers on opposite sides of the fence.

Buckley, 72, running for his 15th consecutive — and last — term in Congress, was endorsed by President Kennedy.

His opponent, David H. Levy, 35, a lawyer, was supported by Mayor Robert F. Wagner and reform leaders Herbert H. Lehman, former senator and governor, and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Buckley's opponents tabbed him as a "boss" who must go. They also accused him of being the congressional absentee champion.

But Kennedy, long a personal and political friend of Buckley, called him a consistent supporter of the administration.

Army's New Big Gun Highly Maneuverable

RENTON, Wash. (AP) — The Army has a new self-propelled artillery piece that can fire a shell 20 miles, ford streams four feet deep, and cruise 400 miles at up to 34 miles an hour.

The new weapon, at 58,000 pounds, is much lighter than its predecessors. It can be air transported any place.

The Army took delivery today of the first production model at Pacific Car & Foundry Co., which is building 235 of the guns under a $17-million contract.

posed that the chief executive be voted formal advance authority to use the country's armed forces if necessary to meet the Red threat in Cuba.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Senate GOP leader, said adoption of such a resolution would show "a united front in the face of hostility, danger and challenge."

The Republican House Leader Rep. Charles A. HalleckofIndiana, pointed to Soviet shipments of arms and military technicians to Cuba and said the situation there is serious and getting worse.

"We believe it imperative for the Congress, the executive branch and the American people to unite in a calm, considered approach to meet this problem."

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—The University of Maryland Extension Service announced Friday the retirment of John W. Magruder, county agent leader for the service.

Magruder will end 35 years of service with the university next Feb. 1.

A native of Gaithersburg, Magruder headed the county agent force for several years. He is a member of the American Society of Agronomists, the Maryland Grange and formerly secretary-treasurer of the Maryland Copr Improvement Association.

His retirement was announced by Dr. Paul E. Nystrom, director of the Extension Service.

Aging Conference Calls For Education Programs

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—The Maryland State Conference on Education for Elderly People recommended Friday increased adult education opportunities at state colleges and universities.

More than 300 delegates from various educational, medical and social organizations attended the two-day meeting on the University of Maryland campus.

Sen. Margaret C. Schweinhaut, D-Montgomery, chairman of the sponsoring State Coordinating Commission on Problems of the Aging, told delegates they should mobilize support at the local level and appeal to state legislators for assistance.

"We shall be knocking on the governor's door one day with plans for action," Mrs. Schweinhaut said.

The delegates suggested that all colleges and universities in Maryland be encouraged to offer on-campus and correspondence courses designed especially for the elderly, and courses to train people who want to work in the field of educating the elderly.

The conference also urged that federal and state matching funds be made available for developing a broader program of old-age education, and that the State Board of Education provide for such courses in their budget request.

Other recommendations included a proposal that an institute of gerontology be established at the University of Maryland for research and training in the field of old age, and a request that the state commission on aging ask the university to set up a research project with the U. S. Office of Education to determine how mass education for the aged can be achieved.

C&O Passenger Train Smacks Rear Of Freight

GOSHEN, Va. (UPI) —A Chesapeake and Ohio passenger train moving slowly as it approached a siding with its 125 sleepy passengers smacked into the rear of a freight train near here early Friday.

There were no injuries, but the two engines on the 16-car passenger liner, "Fast Flying Virginian" and six freight cars were jolted from the tracks but stayed upright.

"I felt a sudden jar," said West Virginia congressman Ken Hechler on his way to a weekend away from Washington. "My first thought was that we had hit an automobile."

Hechler was riding near the front of the train which approached the siding at about 20 miles an hour. It sideswiped a freight that was pulling off the main line to allow the passenger train to go through on its way from Washington west to Cincinnati.

The 125 passengers on the train were shuttled to Clifton Forge by buses where another train was made up and took them west.

Youth To Stand Trial In Slaying

FAIRFAX, Va. (AP)—John C. Vinson Jr., 17, was held Friday for grand jury action in the killing of a former 17-year-old classmate Saturday in Falls Church.

Fairfax Commonwealth's Atty. Robert C. Fitzgerald said a Fairfax County Juvenile Court judge waived jurisdiction over Vinson, and the youth was certified to stand trial as an adult in the slaying of Lewis Goldfein, an honor student at Falls Church High.

The court granted a motion by Vinson's attorney that news reporters be excluded from Friday's hearing.

County Police have said Vinson admitted shooting Goldfein in the victim's yard shortly after midnight Saturday. Detectives said the slain youth had set up a telescope for star gazing when he apparently discovered a prowler peeking through a side window at the Goldfein home.

Vinson is accused of being the prowler and of having shot Goldfein three times when the latter cornered him in the yard.

Condition Of Vote Machines Is Defended

The chairman of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors yesterday declared that the county GOP State Central Committee chairman was off base when making criticism of the condition of the county's voting machines.

J. Wallace Close, the GOP chairman, stated that the main subject discussed by the Republican committee at its meeting Thursday night was the "deplorable" condition of the voting machines in the May state primary election.

Mr. Close added that a letter complaining about voters having to stand in line because machines were not working was sent to Mathew J. Mullaney chairman of the election supervisors, but that he received no reply.

Mr. Mullaney yesterday remarked after reading of Mr. Close's report of the GOP meeting pointed out that one of the three election supervisors, Victor D. Hebb, is a member of the GOP state central committee.

Mr. Hebb, he said, as one of the three supervisors, approved the condition of each machine before it was sent out for the May primary.

The May 28 letter received from Mr. Close, was one of a nature that called to the election supervisors' attention of the mechanical breakdowns, and in his estimation warranted no reply.

In addition, the GOP committee only reported information that the election board, with Hebb as a supervisor, knew at that time.

He pointed out that since the May primary, approximately 50 machines were used to conduct the City of Cumberland's primary and general elections, and added that no complaints were received along these lines.

TV Teaching Catches On In West Va.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Teaching with television is catching on fast in West Virginia.

The number of schools participating in educational television has grown from six in two counties last year to 14 in three counties this year.

So far, television teaching programs have been limited to border counties since the state does not have any educational TV outlets of its own.

Hardy County leads in the number of schools equipped to make practical application of the programs. Seven schools were added in Hardy County this year to the original three.

Science, art and music are being taught to grades two through six by means of programs beamed to the area from Harrisonburg, Va., which are relayed from an education TV station in Richmond.

Ohio County is a newcomer this year. The State Department of Education said French and mathematics will be taught at the Bethlehem Elementary School in Wheeling with the aid of programs from Pittsburgh's WQED-TV.

A department spokesman said the school has installed receivers in three rooms and will use two 15-minute periods of the televised teaching a week as a supplement to regular studies.

Three schools in Hancock County have used the facility since last year, receiving the programs from Pittsburgh.

The department spokesman said favorable reports have been submitted by both Hardy and Hancock counties.

Tawes Pledges Pay Raises For State Employes

BALTIMORE (AP)—Pay raises and fringe benefits worth more than $5 million have been pledged by Gov. Tawes for Maryland's 22,000 state employes.

"This program of benefits is the most liberal ever offered by any administration," Tawes said in the magazine published by the Maryland Classified Employes Association (MCEA).

Tawes rejected a $50 across-the-board pay raise, part of a $12 million package recommended last June by MCEA.

Other items not included in the governor's recommended package were contributions to employes' hospital insurance premiums, night differential pay and time-and-a-half rather than straight pay for overtime.

A key element in the governor's election-year program was his promise of support for the annual salary review conducted by the commissioner of personnel. This would cost $2.5 million and affect a large majority of state employes.

Tawes also said he would support a longevity plan costing about $1.2 million, a $1.25 per hour minimum wage costing $250,000, and salary adjustments for engineering and technical positions in the State Roads Commission which would cost more than $1 million.

The program also calls for straight pay for overtime instead of compensatory time off, and extension of sick leave benefits for on-the-job injuries so employes won't have to use earned sick leave.

Condition Of Vote Machines Is Defended

The chairman of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors yesterday declared that the county GOP State Central Committee chairman was off base when making criticism of the condition of the county's voting machines.

J. Wallace Close, the GOP chairman, stated that the main subject discussed by the Republican committee at its meeting Thursday night was the "deplorable" condition of the voting machines in the May state primary election.

Mr. Close added that a letter complaining about voters having to stand in line because machines were not working was sent to Mathew J. Mullaney chairman of the election supervisors, but that he received no reply.

Mr. Mullaney yesterday remarked after reading of Mr. Close's report of the GOP meeting pointed out that one of the three election supervisors, Victor D. Hebb, is a member of the GOP state central committee.

Mr. Hebb, he said, as one of the three supervisors, approved the condition of each machine before it was sent out for the May primary.

The May 28 letter received from Mr. Close, was one of a nature that called to the election supervisors' attention of the mechanical breakdowns, and in his estimation warranted no reply.

In addition, the GOP committee only reported information that the election board, with Hebb as a supervisor, knew at that time.

He pointed out that since the May primary, approximately 50 machines were used to conduct the City of Cumberland's primary and general elections, and added that no complaints were received along these lines.

TV Teaching Catches On In West Va.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Teaching with television is catching on fast in West Virginia.

The number of schools participating in educational television has grown from six in two counties last year to 14 in three counties this year.

So far, television teaching programs have been limited to border counties since the state does not have any educational TV outlets of its own.

Hardy County leads in the number of schools equipped to make practical application of the programs. Seven schools were added in Hardy County this year to the original three.

Science, art and music are being taught to grades two through six by means of programs beamed to the area from Harrisonburg, Va., which are relayed from an education TV station in Richmond.

Ohio County is a newcomer this year. The State Department of Education said French and mathematics will be taught at the Bethlehem Elementary School in Wheeling with the aid of programs from Pittsburgh's WQED-TV.

A department spokesman said the school has installed receivers in three rooms and will use two 15-minute periods of the televised teaching a week as a supplement to regular studies.

Three schools in Hancock County have used the facility since last year, receiving the programs from Pittsburgh.

The department spokesman said favorable reports have been submitted by both Hardy and Hancock counties.

Tawes Pledges Pay Raises For State Employes

BALTIMORE (AP)—Pay raises and fringe benefits worth more than $5 million have been pledged by Gov. Tawes for Maryland's 22,000 state employes.

"This program of benefits is the most liberal ever offered by any administration," Tawes said in the magazine published by the Maryland Classified Employes Association (MCEA).

Tawes rejected a $50 across-the-board pay raise, part of a $12 million package recommended last June by MCEA.

Other items not included in the governor's recommended package were contributions to employes' hospital insurance premiums, night differential pay and time-and-a-half rather than straight pay for overtime.

A key element in the governor's election-year program was his promise of support for the annual salary review conducted by the commissioner of personnel. This would cost $2.5 million and affect a large majority of state employes.

Tawes also said he would support a longevity plan costing about $1.2 million, a $1.25 per hour minimum wage costing $250,000, and salary adjustments for engineering and technical positions in the State Roads Commission which would cost more than $1 million.

The program also calls for straight pay for overtime instead of compensatory time off, and extension of sick leave benefits for on-the-job injuries so employes won't have to use earned sick leave.

Sensible Sunning Saves Vitamin A

As you know, vitamin A, the skin vitamin, is derived from the sun's rays. But did you know that when you shower immediately after a sun bath (whether you take it under a lamp or under the sun itself) you are washing off a good thing?

It has been proved that at least two or three hours are required for vitamin A to be absorbed by the skin. So from now on, don't wash it right off!

While your body is exposed to the sun's rays, keep it liberally oiled. Instead of showering immediately after exposure, take a five-minute "air" bath in the privacy of your room. You will notice that within a few minutes all stickiness is gone and that within a few weeks the texture of your all-over skin has improved.

The same procedure is prescribed for sun bathers with this exception: Get in a tub before you expose your body to the lamp's rays. As you draw the water, add a cup full of table salt and the juice of one lemon. Your skin will think you have both gone to the beach.

For all sun bathers: If at first you cannot tolerate the thought of not having a shower after a sun bath, take one but make it quick, cool, without soap, and use no towel. Just let the air dry your skin. You'll save more of the vitamin A that way!

LIFE'S LABORATORY

Have you ever thought of your life as a laboratory? There are no test tubes and no scientific textbooks to aid us in our study, but we've been given other aids more important still. We call them God's formulas for living.

ARE WE AFRAID? Then we may test the Christ-given formula, "Be not afraid, only believe."

ARE WE LONELY? Then we reach for the promise of the Lord, "And lo, I am with you alway . . ."

DO WE DOUBT THAT GOD CARES? Then we can analyze for ourselves the message of the Christ, "God so loved the world that He gave His Son . . ."

These are only a few of the formulas for our lives.

To test them we must first know them. The Church is ready to teach. We shall need direction also. The Church offers us the help of consecrated pastors and leaders.

Let's go to Church and learn the transforming power of God's formulas in the laboratories of our lives.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

LIFE'S LABORATORY

Have you ever thought of your life as a laboratory? There are no test tubes and no scientific textbooks to aid us in our study, but we've been given other aids more important still. We call them God's formulas for living.

ARE WE AFRAID? Then we may test the Christ-given formula, "Be not afraid, only believe."

ARE WE LONELY? Then we reach for the promise of the Lord, "And lo, I am with you alway . . ."

DO WE DOUBT THAT GOD CARES? Then we can analyze for ourselves the message of the Christ, "God so loved the world that He gave His Son . . ."

These are only a few of the formulas for our lives.

To test them we must first know them. The Church is ready to teach. We shall need direction also. The Church offers us the help of consecrated pastors and leaders.

Let's go to Church and learn the transforming power of God's formulas in the laboratories of our lives.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Local Man Held On Bigamy Count

A Cumberland man who was picked up on a bad check charge is being held in the county lockup for action of Virginia authorities on a bigamy count.

Lloyd Kemp, of Paca Street, was picked up in connection with the passing of a $30 check at a local grocery. Investigation disclosed he and a woman had gone to Winchester last month to get married. Authorities here say he is still legally married to another local woman.

Kemp was given a suspended six-month sentence on the check charge at a hearing yesterday before Trial Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt, who ordered him held pending action of the Virginia authorities for bigamy.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: What do you think of a girl who would telephone a friend and get her to talk about someone in a most uncomplimentary manner when all the time that someone who was being talked about is listening in on the extension telephone in the first person's house?

Isn't this about the lowest trick you ever heard of in your whole life? I was trapped into such a situation and I would like to have a comment from you.

—VICTIMIZED

Dear Victimized: Yes, this is indeed a shabby trick, but it should teach you a lesson. Never say anything about anyone on the telephone (or anyplace else, for that matter) that you would not say to that person's face.

And as for the cat who framed you, she's a promising candidate for the All American Skunk Award (Female Division).

Dear Ann Landers: You will never print my letter because nobody wants to face the truth about this subject.

You often use a sentence that makes me laugh. I quote: "The law says a man must support his wife and children." Well, I have news for you — the law may say so, but in this state it's just a joke.

I speak from experience, and here's what it's like. The support department at the State's Attorney's office takes your name and all the information. They tell you to wait three months. You wait. Then you appear again and are told they are trying to contact him. You wait another three months. After that they tell you he is not at the address you gave them. So you phone and find he IS there and has been all along.

You go back to the State's Attorney's office. They say they'll look into it. In three months they call and say "He hasn't any money. Do you want to press charges for non-support and have him put in jail?"

What good is he to you in jail? So you say "Skip it."

—BEEN THROUGH IT.

Dear Been: Some states are tougher on the scoundrels than others. I'm in favor of clobbering these low-lifes who try to run out on their responsibilities. Regardless of the law, your last paragraph makes a lot of sense if a man is short on integrity.

Dear Ann Landers: I don't know if you play bridge but I think you can advise me whether or not you know the game.

My husband and I play a lot of cards. He considers himself a genius. I think he's a fine player, but he can and does make mistakes. As for me, I'm a good player, but I don't pretend to be infallible.

The other evening we had another couple in for bridge. Since my husband has a habit of overbidding I was upset when he opened with a wild bid of five spades. I quietly said, "I hope you know what you're doing. I think you're crazy."

He gave me a withering look and said, "Just shut your big fat mouth and play the hand."

We didn't make it, and he was furious. After our guests left he said, "Your cutting remark rattled me and that is why we lost. I refuse to play cards with you again."

I think I should be the one who is mad. Do you agree? —SET

Dear Set: You were both out of order. With temperaments such as yours, I can think of 52 good reasons why you and your husband should not play cards together. Throw in the deck permanently.

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Muir Has Resigned County Position

Robert Muir, who was named assistant to County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya a few months ago, has resigned to resume work with the B&O Railroad Company police department.

Muir has been assigned to the Gary, Ind., area of the B&O. For some years he had been a B&O police officer on the Cumberland Division but was furloughed.

Bids For Machine Sought By County

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners has instructed James G. Stevenson, board clerk, to advertise for sealed bids on an accounting machine for use in the county auditor's office.

Bids on the new business machine will be opened September 28 at 10 a. m. at the board meeting.

Commissioner John J. Rowan said that the accounting machine will eliminate overtime pay for employes in the auditing office by providing a quicker and more efficient method of handling the accounting in the office. This will eventually pay for the machine, Rowan stated.

Local Man Held On Bigamy Count

A Cumberland man who was picked up on a bad check charge is being held in the county lockup for action of Virginia authorities on a bigamy count.

Lloyd Kemp, of Paca Street, was picked up in connection with the passing of a $30 check at a local grocery. Investigation disclosed he and a woman had gone to Winchester last month to get married. Authorities here say he is still legally married to another local woman.

Kemp was given a suspended six-month sentence on the check charge at a hearing yesterday before Trial Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt, who ordered him held pending action of the Virginia authorities for bigamy.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: What do you think of a girl who would telephone a friend and get her to talk about someone in a most uncomplimentary manner when all the time that someone who was being talked about is listening in on the extension telephone in the first person's house?

Isn't this about the lowest trick you ever heard of in your whole life? I was trapped into such a situation and I would like to have a comment from you.

—VICTIMIZED

Dear Victimized: Yes, this is indeed a shabby trick, but it should teach you a lesson. Never say anything about anyone on the telephone (or anyplace else, for that matter) that you would not say to that person's face.

And as for the cat who framed you, she's a promising candidate for the All American Skunk Award (Female Division).

Dear Ann Landers: You will never print my letter because nobody wants to face the truth about this subject.

You often use a sentence that makes me laugh. I quote: "The law says a man must support his wife and children." Well, I have news for you — the law may say so, but in this state it's just a joke.

I speak from experience, and here's what it's like. The support department at the State's Attorney's office takes your name and all the information. They tell you to wait three months. You wait. Then you appear again and are told they are trying to contact him. You wait another three months. After that they tell you he is not at the address you gave them. So you phone and find he IS there and has been all along.

You go back to the State's Attorney's office. They say they'll look into it. In three months they call and say "He hasn't any money. Do you want to press charges for non-support and have him put in jail?"

What good is he to you in jail? So you say "Skip it."

—BEEN THROUGH IT.

Dear Been: Some states are tougher on the scoundrels than others. I'm in favor of clobbering these low-lifes who try to run out on their responsibilities. Regardless of the law, your last paragraph makes a lot of sense if a man is short on integrity.

Dear Ann Landers: I don't know if you play bridge but I think you can advise me whether or not you know the game.

My husband and I play a lot of cards. He considers himself a genius. I think he's a fine player, but he can and does make mistakes. As for me, I'm a good player, but I don't pretend to be infallible.

The other evening we had another couple in for bridge. Since my husband has a habit of overbidding I was upset when he opened with a wild bid of five spades. I quietly said, "I hope you know what you're doing. I think you're crazy."

He gave me a withering look and said, "Just shut your big fat mouth and play the hand."

We didn't make it, and he was furious. After our guests left he said, "Your cutting remark rattled me and that is why we lost. I refuse to play cards with you again."

I think I should be the one who is mad. Do you agree? —SET

Dear Set: You were both out of order. With temperaments such as yours, I can think of 52 good reasons why you and your husband should not play cards together. Throw in the deck permanently.

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Bids For Machine Sought By County

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners has instructed James G. Stevenson, board clerk, to advertise for sealed bids on an accounting machine for use in the county auditor's office.

Bids on the new business machine will be opened September 28 at 10 a. m. at the board meeting.

Commissioner John J. Rowan said that the accounting machine will eliminate overtime pay for employes in the auditing office by providing a quicker and more efficient method of handling the accounting in the office. This will eventually pay for the machine, Rowan stated.

• Communists Too Close To Home

Communist strategy has created in Cuba, 90 miles from U.S. shores, a fount of revolution serving an ideology foreign to the Americas. Yet, while the Monroe Doctrine lies buried, the U.S. is actively combating the same menace thousands of miles from home.

Contradictory restrictions, inept intelligence and bungled communications made a fiasco of a prior attempt to do something about Cuba. The same contradictions apply now.

NATO was created to keep the free world free. Yet NATO members are providing ships that help supply the Castro regime. Does Washington lack the means to bring an end to that?

The OAS was established to provide a common defense against aggression in this hemisphere. Previous attempts to quarantine Castro Cuba as a source of aggression have elicited lukewarm response. Surely, Washington can press now for sterner counter-action in view of what has happened since the Punta del Este conference.

In addition to Moscow's announcement that it has agreed to arm and train Cuban forces, there is documentation of the Communist conversion of Cuba: the deprivation in food and consumer goods; the broken pledges of land ownership; the frozen wages for labor; the rocketing inflation. And, above all, the regimentation into a police state with Soviet overseers.

These Days

Massachusetts Politics

Massachusetts has more candidates for one seat in the United States Senate than any other state. Altogether five men are running for the nomination. The primary takes place on September 18.

The principal contest at this moment is between Ted Kennedy, the youngest brother of the President, and Edward McCormack, Jr., the present Attorney General of Massachusetts. Both men are young—Ted Kennedy is the younger. Both come of distinguished Democratic families—Ted's brother is President; another brother is the Attorney General of the United States; a brother-in-law is head of the Peace Corps. McCormack's uncle is Speaker of the House of Representatives and a highly respected Catholic layman. Both candidates have pretty and intelligent wives.

The McCormack argument is that Ted Kennedy has had neither legal nor public experience; that he is not yet ready to hold a position in the United States Senate; that the only reason that he dares run at all is that he is brother of the President.

The Kennedy argument seems to be that because of his relationship to the President, he can get more for Massachusetts from the Federal Government than McCormack can.

Apart from the two points, neither candidate differs much in principle. Both believe in the New Frontier. Both are supporters of President Kennedy. Both are of liberal persuasion.

It would appear that the Kennedys had put a much more effective organization in the field than McCormack has. On the other hand, there is considerable resistance to Ted Kennedy on the ground that there are too many Kennedys in the public eye. The Kennedys are much like the Adamses, of whom there were also a great many. Reinhold Niebuhr, at whose home in Stockbridge, a McCormack meeting was held, called Kennedy's candidacy fantastic.

The Republican candidate will be George Lodge, son of Henry Cabot Lodge who was our Ambassador at the United Nations and who ran for Vice President on Nixon's ticket. George Lodge has been in the Department of Labor and wrote a remarkable pamphlet on the capitalist system — one of the very few defenses which is well worth reading.

There are two other candidates whom we may omit from this discussion as they are not likely to be nominated. The excitement over the primary fight between Ted Kennedy and Eddie McCormack attracts so much attention that the contest between Democrats and Republicans seems to have been forgotten altogether.

The primary contest will leave wounds no matter whether Kennedy or McCormack is chosen. While the Kennedys from Washington say that they are not supporting their brother, ("He is on his own"), no one in these parts believes them. They assume that Ted would not be a candidate unless Jack approved.

The state of Massachusetts is increasingly Roman Catholic. Not only does it have a large Irish-Catholic population but a constantly growing Italian Roman Catholic population. The Governor of the state is of Italian origin; his predecessor is of Italian origin. When the ethnic content of a state changes, its politics is likely to change. Governor John A. Volpe is a Republican.

It is impossible to foretell the results of the forthcoming primary. There have been all sorts of polls, but confidence in pollsters is going down the drain because too many amateurs have got into the business who cannot put up the capital for a true sample. A pollster has to be taken more or less at his word, and some of the newer and less expensive firms have no word that can be taken. When a candidate is or has been a member of the Board of Directors of a polling company, that company ought to excuse itself from the transaction on the grounds of a conflict of interest. That has not been done in some cases. So many polls in this campaign throughout the country have been fixed that a scandal is bound to explode sooner or later. The scandal will be over a conflict of interest.

In Massachusetts, no one takes the polls seriously. Ted Kennedy assumes that he will win; McCormack assumes that he will win. Kennedy's backers say he is way ahead; the McCormack backers are sure that he is in. It is an amazing campaign and has given courage to the Republicans who now believe that they will have a chance in what looked like a Democratic victory only a few months ago.

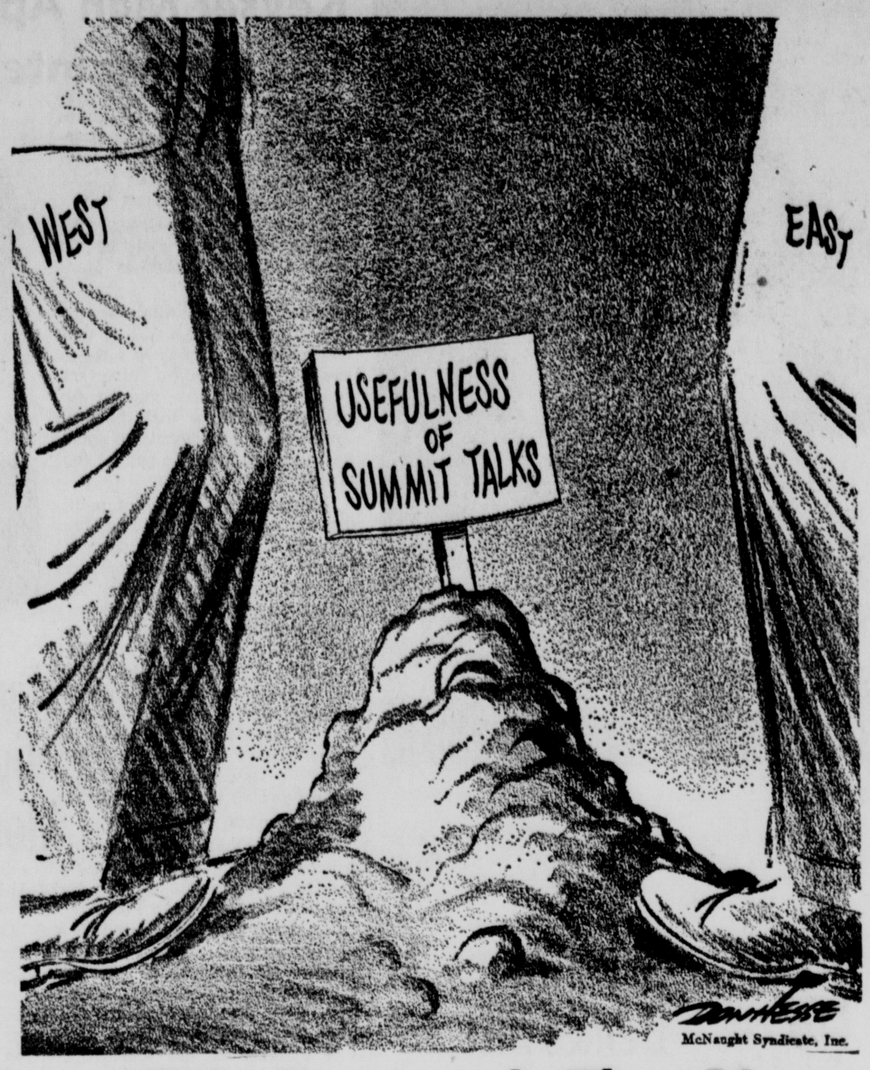
The Mountain Has Become A Molehill



Has JFK Scrapped The Monroe Doctrine?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Has President Kennedy really disregarded, if not scrapped altogether, the Monroe Doctrine—the historic policy of the United States for the protection of the Western Hemisphere against European aggression?

The President's latest statement, upon being examined carefully, reiterates deliberately what he said, in effect, at a news conference on August 29—that he will not uphold the doctrine unless there's an actual military invasion of a country in this hemisphere. He will not take action in the face of European intervention in the affairs of a Latin-American country. He will accept a military build-up by the Soviet Union inside Cuba, for instance, as "defensive" in that country. He will wait for actual offensive preparations or operations before taking action. He will, in other words, take "the first blow." He will not intervene to save the people of Cuba or any other Latin-American country from domination by a European power.

This is a distinct departure from the words of the Monroe Doctrine itself and from the action taken by several Presidents of the United States in past history.

The Monroe Doctrine says nothing about avoiding action just because European problems may loom large at the time. When Russia was attempting to get a foothold in the northwestern part of this country, President James Monroe expressed in his famous message to Congress on December 2, 1823, the American policy as follows:

"We owe it, therefore, to candor and to the amicable relations existing between the United States and those (European) powers to declare that we should consider any attempt on their part to extend their system to any portion of this hemisphere as dangerous to our peace and safety. With the existing colonies or dependencies of any European power we have not interfered and shall not interfere. But with the governments who have declared their independence and maintained it, and whose independence we have, on great consideration and on just principles, acknowledged, we could not view any interposition for the purpose of oppressing them, or controlling in any other manner their destiny, by any European power in any other light than as the manifestation of an unfriendly disposition toward the United States."

Plainly, the Soviet Union has political control of Cuba today. The whole world has seen how it has actually begun to impose its system on Cuba, which not only is a part of this hemisphere but is only 90 miles from the United States. This makes it even more relevant as an action that is "dangerous to our peace and safety."

Thus, the Soviet Union has given a "manifestation of an unfriendly disposition toward the United States." The Soviet Union has officially acknowledged that it has sent armament to Cuba, and the Washington government recognizes officially that this armament can be used to ward off any military action by planes or naval vessels of the United States. The Soviets can also make Cuba a base of supply for submarines.

The fact is, therefore, that the Soviet Union has armed Cuba to prevent the United States from landing troops or otherwise assuring that the lives and properties of its citizens and of other foreign nationals be protected.

The Soviet Union has defied the Monroe Doctrine and has taken steps to prevent its enforcement insofar as Cuba is concerned by sending allegedly "defensive" armament to Cuba.

President Kennedy, of course, does not know at what moment the missile pads being erected for "defensive" purposes may be used for "offensive" purposes. The officially confirmed data show that Soviet military "technicians" —at least 3,500 men—have actually been landed in Cuba.

Under the circumstances, the United States can, if it wishes, ignore the Soviet military plans and land troops now before Cuban missile strength is built up, or it can wait—as it did in Berlin when "the wall" was erected—to deal with a more serious problem that can develop later.

If the United States government does not wish at this time to land forces in Cuba to assert the principles of the Monroe Doctrine, then the question arises as to what steps this country could take to manifest its feeling concerning the Soviet Union's "interposition" in this hemisphere.

The United States can announce that it will sever diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union unless all Soviet military technicians are withdrawn at once from Cuba. This action would mean the expulsion from the United States of all Soviet diplomatic and consular officials and the return of all U. S. officials from the Soviet Union. It could mean also the imposition of an economic blockade by the United States not only against Cuba but against the Soviet Union. All Latin-American states would be urged to join in the same move. It's the only way to get rid of Communist infiltration in the western hemisphere without bloodshed.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

VACATION RETREAT —Partly as an outgrowth of the endless summers spent in Washington by the legislators, at least one member of Congress is urging that the body acquire a vacation retreat where members can go for long weekends to soothe their frazzled nerves.

And Rep. Robert Barry of New York has just the spot. Barry was one of the band of congressmen who last year fought a losing battle for Congress to take a summer recess.

Now, he's proposing congressional purchase of a rambling, many-roomed house on an island off the coast of Connecticut, to be used by solons seeking surcease from Washington heat and pressures.

The cost would be about $135,000, including furnishings, and Barry is even trying to cut this down by seeking some foundation that might be interested in financing the purchase as a means of improving the lives of congressmen, and therefore the national welfare.

It has 14 bedrooms and three sleeping porches, and could accommodate a healthy contingent of legislators through the long, hot summer weekends. There's boating, fishing, swimming, golf and tennis.

Perhaps Barry's idea will be taken seriously some day, because privately many congressmen support it. But they're sensitive about the voters' reaction to doing something of this sort for themselves (remember bundles for congressmen?) and so the whole plan probably will come to naught.

GOOD EATING — A couple of congressmen were discussing the large number of good retaurants in Washington. A third, who overheard them, inquired where one could find a good Chinese restaurant.

That, said one of the legislators, reminds me of a story, the kicker to which is: "Just find out where the Chinese truck drivers eat."

The other congressman said that reminded him of another story, about an Indian from his state who was visiting the East. "Are you a real Indian," a small boy asked him?"

"No," replied the Indian. "I'm made in Japan.

GOP Intra-Party Fights May Give New Hampshire Vote To Democrats

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Tiny, Republican New Hampshire, the bellwether state in many past elections, is staging such a Republican cat-and-dog-fight this year that it could vote itself out of its usual rockribbed Republican status. Everybody is calling everyone else names—except the Democrats. It's the biggest election in New Hampshire history, due to the fact that the late Sen. Styles Bridges' seat is open.

No. 1 name-caller is Gov. Wesley Powell, cocky president of the Conference of Mayors, and the man who incurred Nixon's ire when, during an election parade, he insisted on riding ahead of the then vice president.

At a big Republican dinner last week, the governor proceeded to blast the No. 1 publisher of New Hampshire, William Loeb of the Manchester Union - Leader, as "that unhappy guy from Pride's Crossing" with a "tormented mind."

Loeb, in turn, has been blasting most of the other Republican candidates, except his favorite, Dolores Bridges, blonde, vigorous widow of the late Senator, who is running for his seat. Loeb has been denouncing the top Republican candidate for Senator, Congressman Perkins "Bigmouth" Bass, as a one-worlder and a believer in international cooperation—fighting words in Loeb's lexicon.

There are four Republicans in the race for Senator: Mrs. Bridges, Congressman Bass, Congressman Chester Merrow — probably the best-qualified candidate—and the present incumbent, Sen. Maurice Murphy. But the Union-Leader has been going after Bass with such venom that it will probably help him win.

Democrats' Big Chance

Name-caller Powell threw some more words in the direction of former Attorney General Gardner Turner, now campaign manager for Mrs. Bridges.

"I demanded his resignation," said Powell, "because of his drinking habits."

"The Governor knows full well," fired back Turner, "that our final disagreement was based on the fundamental differences in the moral concept of the function of the attorney general's office."

Another furor took place when Robert W. Kimball, Republican state chairman, endorsed Powell and blasted John Pillsbury, his GOP opponent. This touched off a chain reaction from other Republicans who pointed out that, as between rival Republican candidates, the state chairman was supposed to be neutral.

As the climax to this free-for-all, Governor Powell announced at a testimonial dinner last week that he felt under no obligation to support the Republican ticket and would search his conscience carefully before doing so.

Confident, complacent Governor Powell is a self-avowed candidate to be president of the United States, and is so sure of winning his third term as governor that he is not campaigning, is making no speeches beyond name-calling. Many political dopesters believe, however, that he'll end up next Wednesday reading how persistent, unvituperative John Pillsbury has won the Republican primary.

Note—The Democrats are running John King of Manchester for governor; Tom McIntyre, the ex-mayor of Laconia, for the Senate. Mayors of Laconia have a habit of going places, as witness ex-Mayor Bernie Boutin, previous candidate for governor, now doing an A-1 job as General Services Administrator in Washington.

The Democrats haven't elected a governor of New Hamshire since Fred Brown made it in 1923, and haven't elected a Senator since the same Fred Brown made it in 1932. This year, as a result of quiet Democratic organization and GOP name-calling, they could stage a comeback.

High-Priced Drugs

If the price of drugs remains high on the drugstore counters, you can thank, in part, the Democratic Senate Leader, Mike Mansfield of Montana.

One of the key provisions in the Kefauver Drug Bill was a compulsory patent licensing provision requiring the big drug companies to license new drugs for the relief of human suffering. The automobile industry has a voluntary patent licensing pool, whereby all companies can share in the inventions of another for the benefit of the industry, and Senator Kefauver argued that where human health and human life were concerned, a patent licensing provision was even more necessary than for autos.

But during the closed-door debate inside the Judiciary Committee, the Republicans joined with southern Democrats Eastland (Miss.), McClellan (Ark.), and Ervin (N. C.) to knock this out of the bill.

However, it looked as if it could be restored to the bill in Senate floor debate until Mansfield, the administration leader, took the initiative in moving to table Kefauver's patent amendment.

Surprised, Kefauver walked over to Mansfield.

"For goodness sake, Mike," he remonstrated, "don't you make this motion. Let Dirksen do it."

Republican Leader Everett Dirksen, Ill., had led the battle inside committee against the patent provision, and Kefauver knew that Democrats would not support his motion as they would Mansfield's.

"I've got to stick by the committee vote," replied Mansfield, and went ahead with the rollcall. Twenty-seven Democrats voted against their leader and for the patent licensing provision. But Republicans joining with southern Democrats, upheld the Mansfield motion. The chance of any real reduction in the price of drugs is dead.

Note — The biggest money-raiser in the Republican Party, Spencer T. Olin, treasurer of the GOP National Committee, is head of Squibbs and lives in Dirksen's home state, Illinois.

Too Much Worry About Cholesterol Variations

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Many persons are cholesterol cripples because they associate high levels with heart attacks. They are frustrated because the level varies every time a blood test is done and they feel no different whether the reading is high or low.

A cholesterol level above 260 mg.% is said to contribute to hardening of the arteries and to increase the chance of developing coronary thrombosis. On the other hand, people have lived to a ripe age with levels higher than this. I suspect that worrying about these fatty molecules and the anxieties resulting from trying to lower the level do more harm than the cholesterol.

Increasing age is associated with increasing cholesterol levels. The amount in the blood varies considerably with changes in weight, diet, stress and exercise. Furthermore, there are wide, unexplained fluctuations in levels when people are tested periodically even though they are not on a diet and do not receive medicine.

In addition, the test is difficult to do and readings vary in different laboratories. If you don't believe this, ask the technician to draw twice as much blood as is needed the next time a test is made. Let her keep one sample and you take the other to another laboratory or hospital. Compare the results.

These points are mentioned because too many people are overly concerned about this problem. Gluttonous eating and overweight can be corrected and the individual can eat sparingly of animal fats, exercise daily, and avoid excesses.

The use of drugs, vitamins, hormones, or what have you will help lower the level, provided the physician thinks it is necessary. It is well to remember that it is a thankless job, however, because the level goes up when these medications are stopped. Above all, do not take anything that might do more harm than the cholesteral. Not all the questions about this fatty substance have been answered.

DROPSY

C. H. writes: Why is it dangerous for the body to hold too much water in the tissues?

REPLY

The serious aspect of dropsy is the cause—heart, kidney, or liver disease. The waterlogged tissues are uncomfortable and the congestion in the lungs may lead to cough and shortness of breath. The indigestion that develops in a person with dropsy may stem from congestion in the abdomen.

ARMPIT ITCHING

B.N. writes: What is the reason I have itching and burning in the armpits all the time?

REPLY

You may be allergic to an underarm deodorant or anti-perspirant, or an infection may exist that is irritated by perspiration.

POOR DIGESTION

A. B. writes: Do older persons tend to have more flatulence than younger ones?

REPLY

Yes, possibly because of changes in the enzymes and other digestants, fewer teeth, preference for softer and starchier foods, and less physical activity.

TOMORROW: Calorie intake and outgo.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

An avid fisherman was dragged away from his beloved Minnesota lakes and taken on a tour of Europe by his determined wife. Back home he announced that the summer had been pretty much wasted, but that Venice at least had proved tolerable. "What attracted you most there?" he was asked. "The Lido or St. Mark's?" "Neither," said the great traveler. "What tickled me most was that I could sit in my hotel room and fish right out of the window."

I like the story about an indomitable old lady of ninety-odd years who obviously was not going to recover from her latest serious illness. Members of the family told her as tactfully as possible, "You've never indicated where you'd like to be buried after you die: in the East where you were born or here where you've lived for years?"

The old lady cut them short, regarded them with a twinkle in her eyes, and said, "Surprise me!"

"Daddy-O," asked an innocent little child, "what does it mean that Mr. Young went to the Builders' Convention as a delegate-at-large?"

Mother snatched up the ball before Daddy-O could get his throat cleared. "It means," she explained bitterly, "that he didn't take Mrs. Young."

Sigh For Lost Youth

By John Crosby

LONDON

Ronald Neame, a graying Englishman who directed such fine, somewhat bitter movies as "Tunes of Glory" and "The Horse's Mouth," has an acrid view on life in general rather unusual for the movie world.

"I always have grave suspicions," he will tell you, "of people who go through a film always smiling. I raise my eyebrows when I hear they are under budget or ahead of schedule. I believe everything good is agony. If you are working with people who believe in what they are doing, you must expect they will fight for it. I always judge my films when I'm doing them not by my happiness but how far I am from suicide." He smiled. "If I'm not far from suicide, I always feel they may turn out okay."

Neame has just finished "The Lonely Stage" with Judy Garland, who is not exactly renowned for her cooperation. He had some splendidly suicidal notions during the shooting, so perhaps he has a good movie. His ideas on film success and what they do to a film producer are not exactly new, but they are heretical coming from him.

"I've become rather used to making films on more than a shoe-string budget, with equipment which is not outdated, with cameras and lights that work. Young men do films on shoe-string budgets and often they are marvelous films. But I spend more and, if you spend more, the distributor wants his insurance. Therefore there are many stories that I'd love to make that I doubt I'll be allowed to make unless I'm doing them on a small budget. I shall probably," and he winced as he said it, "never make these stories. Rather I will continue to make things I only half believe in."

There are not many directors who will tell you they are doing things they only half-believe in, but Neames not only said it but elaborated on it at some length.

"Alec Guinness has a story about Noah which he and I would very much like to do. We will never do it because it is too costly and not commercial enough." He sighed. "Fortunately, there is a young generation coming along who will do things they believe in. Thank goodness. There have been three generations of film-makers in my family. My father, myself, and my son. I've seen four or five generations of keen, angry young men, and I say thank God for them. At the same time I'm old enough to be a little cynical when they look down their noses at the solid conservative ranks. I know now they'll be joining us soon."

It all sounded straight out of John Galsworthy—one generation of flaming liberals gradually subsiding into crusty conservatism. Actually, Neames is rather angry about it.

"It is a disgrace what happens to people like myself," he said. "I started out like many others, saying I would not make a film uless I believed in it. You find something you like and try to interest a distributor in it. You find something—or try to find something—which will meet his requirements and yet won't mean you are selling out.

"Meanwhile, companies come to you with rubbish and you read it and reject it. Then a year goes by and you panic. And while you are in that state, someone comes along with a subject which is a damned sight worse than anything you've ever seen and that is what you do. You do it because you are scared.

"Yes, it is a disgrace what happens to people like myself. We are too old and wealthy to be angry enough to work again with small budgets and the wrong equipment to make films we believe in."

Ardmore, Okla., police found two billy goats wandering around a metal works plant. Looking for tin-can snacks?

Leaves of the giant water lily, we read, sometimes grow to a width of four feet. A seed catalog artist's dream come to life?

Yawning, according to an article in one of the current magazines, actually stimulates the brain. Unless, of course, one is just too tired to think!

• Communists Too Close To Home

Communist strategy has created in Cuba, 90 miles from U.S. shores, a fount of revolution serving an ideology foreign to the Americas. Yet, while the Monroe Doctrine lies buried, the U.S. is actively combating the same menace thousands of miles from home.

Contradictory restrictions, inept intelligence and bungled communications made a fiasco of a prior attempt to do something about Cuba. The same contradictions apply now.

NATO was created to keep the free world free. Yet NATO members are providing ships that help supply the Castro regime. Does Washington lack the means to bring an end to that?

The OAS was established to provide a common defense against aggression in this hemisphere. Previous attempts to quarantine Castro Cuba as a source of aggression have elicited lukewarm response. Surely, Washington can press now for sterner counter-action in view of what has happened since the Punta del Este conference.

In addition to Moscow's announcement that it has agreed to arm and train Cuban forces, there is documentation of the Communist conversion of Cuba: the deprivation in food and consumer goods; the broken pledges of land ownership; the frozen wages for labor; the rocketing inflation. And, above all, the regimentation into a police state with Soviet overseers.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Massachusetts Politics

Massachusetts has more candidates for one seat in the United States Senate than any other state. Altogether five men are running for the nomination. The primary takes place on September 18.

The principal contest at this moment is between Ted Kennedy, the youngest brother of the President, and Edward McCormack, Jr., the present Attorney General of Massachusetts. Both men are young—Ted Kennedy is the younger. Both come of distinguished Democratic families—Ted's brother is President; another brother is the Attorney General of the United States; a brother-in-law is head of the Peace Corps. McCormack's uncle is Speaker of the House of Representatives and a highly respected Catholic layman. Both candidates have pretty and intelligent wives.

The McCormack argument is that Ted Kennedy has had neither legal nor public experience; that he is not yet ready to hold a position in the United States Senate; that the only reason that he dares run at all is that he is brother of the President.

The Kennedy argument seems to be that because of his relationship to the President, he can get more for Massachusetts from the Federal Government than McCormack can.

Apart from the two points, neither candidate differs much in principle. Both believe in the New Frontier. Both are supporters of President Kennedy. Both are of liberal persuasion.

It would appear that the Kennedys had put a much more effective organization in the field than McCormack has. On the other hand, there is considerable resistance to Ted Kennedy on the ground that there are too many Kennedys in the public eye. The Kennedys are much like the Adamses, of whom there were also a great many. Reinhold Niebuhr, at whose home in Stockbridge, a McCormack meeting was held, called Kennedy's candidacy fantastic.

The Republican candidate will be George Lodge, son of Henry Cabot Lodge who was our Ambassador at the United Nations and who ran for Vice President on Nixon's ticket. George Lodge has been in the Department of Labor and wrote a remarkable pamphlet on the capitalist system — one of the very few defenses which is well worth reading.

There are two other candidates whom we may omit from this discussion as they are not likely to be nominated. The excitement over the primary fight between Ted Kennedy and Eddie McCormack attracts so much attention that the contest between Democrats and Republicans seems to have been forgotten altogether.

The primary contest will leave wounds no matter whether Kennedy or McCormack is chosen. While the Kennedys from Washington say that they are not supporting their brother, ("He is on his own"), no one in these parts believes them. They assume that Ted would not be a candidate unless Jack approved.

The state of Massachusetts is increasingly Roman Catholic. Not only does it have a large Irish-Catholic population but a constantly growing Italian Roman Catholic population. The Governor of the state is of Italian origin; his predecessor is of Italian origin. When the ethnic content of a state changes, its politics is likely to change. Governor John A. Volpe is a Republican.

It is impossible to foretell the results of the forthcoming primary. There have been all sorts of polls, but confidence in pollsters is going down the drain because too many amateurs have got into the business who cannot put up the capital for a true sample. A pollster has to be taken more or less at his word, and some of the newer and less expensive firms have no word that can be taken. When a candidate is or has been a member of the Board of Directors of a polling company, that company ought to excuse itself from the transaction on the grounds of a conflict of interest. That has not been done in some cases. So many polls in this campaign throughout the country have been fixed that a scandal is bound to explode sooner or later. The scandal will be over a conflict of interest.

In Massachusetts, no one takes the polls seriously. Ted Kennedy assumes that he will win; McCormack assumes that he will win. Kennedy's backers say he is way ahead; the McCormack backers are sure that he is in. It is an amazing campaign and has given courage to the Republicans who now believe that they will have a chance in what looked like a Democratic victory only a few months ago.

The Mountain Has Become A Molehill

Has JFK Scrapped The Monroe Doctrine?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Has President Kennedy really disregarded, if not scrapped altogether, the Monroe Doctrine—the historic policy of the United States for the protection of the Western Hemisphere against European aggression?

The President's latest statement, upon being examined carefully, reiterates deliberately what he said, in effect, at a news conference on August 29—that he will not uphold the doctrine unless there's an actual military invasion of a country in this hemisphere. He will not take action in the face of European intervention in the affairs of a Latin-American country. He will accept a military build-up by the Soviet Union inside Cuba, for instance, as "defensive" in that country. He will wait for actual offensive preparations or operations before taking action. He will, in other words, take "the first blow." He will not intervene to save the people of Cuba or any other Latin-American country from domination by a European power.

This is a distinct departure from the words of the Monroe Doctrine itself and from the action taken by several Presidents of the United States in past history.

The Monroe Doctrine says nothing about avoiding action just because European problems may loom large at the time. When Russia was attempting to get a foothold in the northwestern part of this country, President James Monroe expressed in his famous message to Congress on December 2, 1823, the American policy as follows:

"We owe it, therefore, to candor and to the amicable relations existing between the United States and those (European) powers to declare that we should consider any attempt on their part to extend their system to any portion of this hemisphere as dangerous to our peace and safety. With the existing colonies or dependencies of any European power we have not interfered and shall not interfere. But with the governments who have declared their independence and maintained it, and whose independence we have, on great consideration and on just principles, acknowledged, we could not view any interposition for the purpose of oppressing them, or controlling in any other manner their destiny, by any European power in any other light than as the manifestation of an unfriendly disposition toward the United States."

Plainly, the Soviet Union has political control of Cuba today. The whole world has seen how it has actually begun to impose its system on Cuba, which not only is a part of this hemisphere but is only 90 miles from the United States. This makes it even more relevant as an action that is "dangerous to our peace and safety."

Thus, the Soviet Union has given a "manifestation of an unfriendly disposition toward the United States." The Soviet Union has officially acknowledged that it has sent armament to Cuba, and the Washington government recognizes officially that this armament can be used to ward off any military action by planes or naval vessels of the United States. The Soviets can also make Cuba a base of supply for submarines.

The fact is, therefore, that the Soviet Union has armed Cuba to prevent the United States from landing troops or otherwise assuring that the lives and properties of its citizens and of other foreign nationals be protected.

The Soviet Union has defied the Monroe Doctrine and has taken steps to prevent its enforcement insofar as Cuba is concerned by sending allegedly "defensive" armament to Cuba.

President Kennedy, of course, does not know at what moment the missile pads being erected for "defensive" purposes may be used for "offensive" purposes. The officially confirmed data show that Soviet military "technicians" —at least 3,500 men—have actually been landed in Cuba.

Under the circumstances, the United States can, if it wishes, ignore the Soviet military plans and land troops now before Cuban missile strength is built up, or it can wait—as it did in Berlin when "the wall" was erected—to deal with a more serious problem that can develop later.

If the United States government does not wish at this time to land forces in Cuba to assert the principles of the Monroe Doctrine, then the question arises as to what steps this country could take to manifest its feeling concerning the Soviet Union's "interposition" in this hemisphere.

The United States can announce that it will sever diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union unless all Soviet military technicians are withdrawn at once from Cuba. This action would mean the expulsion from the United States of all Soviet diplomatic and consular officials and the return of all U. S. officials from the Soviet Union. It could mean also the imposition of an economic blockade by the United States not only against Cuba but against the Soviet Union. All Latin-American states would be urged to join in the same move. It's the only way to get rid of Communist infiltration in the western hemisphere without bloodshed.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

VACATION RETREAT —Partly as an outgrowth of the endless summers spent in Washington by the legislators, at least one member of Congress is urging that the body acquire a vacation retreat where members can go for long weekends to soothe their frazzled nerves.

And Rep. Robert Barry of New York has just the spot. Barry was one of the band of congressmen who last year fought a losing battle for Congress to take a summer recess.

Now, he's proposing congressional purchase of a rambling, many-roomed house on an island off the coast of Connecticut, to be used by solons seeking surcease from Washington heat and pressures.

The cost would be about $135,000, including furnishings, and Barry is even trying to cut this down by seeking some foundation that might be interested in financing the purchase as a means of improving the lives of congressmen, and therefore the national welfare.

It has 14 bedrooms and three sleeping porches, and could accommodate a healthy contingent of legislators through the long, hot summer weekends. There's boating, fishing, swimming, golf and tennis.

Perhaps Barry's idea will be taken seriously some day, because privately many congressmen support it. But they're sensitive about the voters' reaction to doing something of this sort for themselves (remember bundles for congressmen?) and so the whole plan probably will come to naught.

GOOD EATING — A couple of congressmen were discussing the large number of good retaurants in Washington. A third, who overheard them, inquired where one could find a good Chinese restaurant.

That, said one of the legislators, reminds me of a story, the kicker to which is: "Just find out where the Chinese truck drivers eat."

The other congressman said that reminded him of another story, about an Indian from his state who was visiting the East. "Are you a real Indian," a small boy asked him?"

"No," replied the Indian. "I'm made in Japan.

GOP Intra-Party Fights May Give New Hampshire Vote To Democrats

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Tiny, Republican New Hampshire, the bellwether state in many past elections, is staging such a Republican cat-and-dog-fight this year that it could vote itself out of its usual rockribbed Republican status. Everybody is calling everyone else names—except the Democrats. It's the biggest election in New Hampshire history, due to the fact that the late Sen. Styles Bridges' seat is open.

No. 1 name-caller is Gov. Wesley Powell, cocky president of the Conference of Mayors, and the man who incurred Nixon's ire when, during an election parade, he insisted on riding ahead of the then vice president.

At a big Republican dinner last week, the governor proceeded to blast the No. 1 publisher of New Hampshire, William Loeb of the Manchester Union - Leader, as "that unhappy guy from Pride's Crossing" with a "tormented mind."

Loeb, in turn, has been blasting most of the other Republican candidates, except his favorite, Dolores Bridges, blonde, vigorous widow of the late Senator, who is running for his seat. Loeb has been denouncing the top Republican candidate for Senator, Congressman Perkins "Bigmouth" Bass, as a one-worlder and a believer in international cooperation—fighting words in Loeb's lexicon.

There are four Republicans in the race for Senator: Mrs. Bridges, Congressman Bass, Congressman Chester Merrow — probably the best-qualified candidate—and the present incumbent, Sen. Maurice Murphy. But the Union-Leader has been going after Bass with such venom that it will probably help him win.

Democrats' Big Chance

Name-caller Powell threw some more words in the direction of former Attorney General Gardner Turner, now campaign manager for Mrs. Bridges.

"I demanded his resignation," said Powell, "because of his drinking habits."

"The Governor knows full well," fired back Turner, "that our final disagreement was based on the fundamental differences in the moral concept of the function of the attorney general's office."

Another furor took place when Robert W. Kimball, Republican state chairman, endorsed Powell and blasted John Pillsbury, his GOP opponent. This touched off a chain reaction from other Republicans who pointed out that, as between rival Republican candidates, the state chairman was supposed to be neutral.

As the climax to this free-for-all, Governor Powell announced at a testimonial dimer last week that he felt under no obligation to support the Republican ticket and would search his conscience carefully before doing so.

Confident, complacent Governor Powell is a self-avowed candidate to be president of the United States, and is so sure of winning his third term as governor that he is not campaigning, is making no speeches beyond name-calling. Many political dopesters believe, however, that he'll end up next Wednesday reading how persistent, unvituperative John Pillsbury has won the Republican primary.

Note—The Democrats are running John King of Manchester for governor; Tom McIntyre, the ex-mayor of Laconia, for the Senate. Mayors of Laconia have a habit of going places, as witness ex-Mayor Bernie Boutin, previous candidate for governor, now doing an A-1 job as General Services Administrator in Washington.

The Democrats haven't elected a governor of New Hamshire since Fred Brown made it in 1923, and haven't elected a Senator since the same Fred Brown made it in 1932. This year, as a result of quiet Democratic organization and GOP name-calling, they could stage a comeback.

High-Priced Drugs

If the price of drugs remains high on the drugstore counters, you can thank, in part, the Democratic Senate Leader, Mike Mansfield of Montana.

One of the key provisions in the Kefauver Drug Bill was a compulsory patent licensing provision requiring the big drug companies to license new drugs for the relief of human suffering. The automobile industry has a voluntary patent licensing pool, whereby all companies can share in the inventions of another for the benefit of the industry, and Senator Kefauver argued that where human health and human life were concerned, a patent licensing provision was even more necessary than for autos.

But during the closed-door debate inside the Judiciary Committee, the Republicans joined with southern Democrats Eastland (Miss.), McClellan (Ark.), and Ervin (N. C.) to knock this out of the bill.

However, it looked as if it could be restored to the bill in Senate floor debate until Mansfield, the administration leader, took the initiative in moving to table Kefauver's patent amendment.

Surprised, Kefauver walked over to Mansfield.

"For goodness sake, Mike," he remonstrated, "don't you make this motion. Let Dirksen do it."

Republican Leader Everett Dirksen, Ill., had led the battle inside committee against the patent provision, and Kefauver knew that Democrats would not support his motion as they would Mansfield's.

"I've got to stick by the committee vote," replied Mansfield, and went ahead with the rollcall. Twenty-seven Democrats voted against their leader and for the patent licensing provision. But Republicans joining with southern Democrats, upheld the Mansfield motion. The chance of any real reduction in the price of drugs is dead.

Sigh For Lost Youth

By John Crosby

LONDON

Ronald Neame, a graying Englishman who directed such fine, somewhat bitter movies as "Tunes of Glory" and "The Horse's Mouth," has an acrid view on life in general rather unusual for the movie world.

"I always have grave suspicions," he will tell you, "of people who go through a film always smiling. I raise my eyebrows when I hear they are under budget or ahead of schedule. I believe everything good is agony. If you are working with people who believe in what they are doing, you must expect they will fight for it. I always judge my films when I'm doing them not by my happiness but how far I am from suicide." He smiled. "If I'm not far from suicide, I always feel they may turn out okay."

Neame has just finished "The Lonely Stage" with Judy Garland, who is not exactly renowned for her cooperation. He had some splendidly suicidal notions during the shooting, so perhaps he has a good movie. His ideas on film success and what they do to a film producer are not exactly new, but they are heretical coming from him.

"I've become rather used to making films on more than a shoe-string budget, with equipment which is not outdated, with cameras and lights that work. Young men do films on shoe-string budgets and often they are marvelous films. But I spend more and, if you spend more, the distributor wants his insurance. Therefore there are many stories that I'd love to make that I doubt I'll be allowed to make unless I'm doing them on a small budget. I shall probably," and he winced as he said it, "never make these stories. Rather I will continue to make things I only half believe in."

There are not many directors who will tell you they are doing things they only half-believe in, but Neames not only said it but elaborated on it at some length.

"Alec Guinness has a story about Noah which he and I would very much like to do. We will never do it because it is too costly and not commercial enough." He sighed. "Fortunately, there is a young generation coming along who will do things they believe in. Thank goodness. There have been three generations of film-makers in my family. My father, myself, and my son. I've seen four or five generations of keen, angry young men, and I say thank God for them. At the same time I'm old enough to be a little cynical when they look down their noses at the solid conservative ranks. I know now they'll be joining us soon."

It all sounded straight out of John Galsworthy—one generation of flaming liberals gradually subsiding into crusty conservatism. Actually, Neames is rather angry about it.

"It is a disgrace what happens to people like myself," he said. "I started out like many others, saying I would not make a film uless I believed in it. You find something you like and try to interest a distributor in it. You find something—or try to find something—which will meet his requirements and yet won't mean you are selling out.

"Meanwhile, companies come to you with rubbish and you read it and reject it. Then a year goes by and you panic. And while you are in that state, someone comes along with a subject which is a damned sight worse than anything you've ever seen and that is what you do. You do it because you are scared.

"Yes, it is a disgrace what happens to people like myself. We are too old and wealthy to be angry enough to work again with small budgets and the wrong equipment to make films we believe in."

Educator Says U.S. System Best In World

Dr. Trump Addresses FSTC Faculty

FROSTBURG — "The essence of the American Educational System is a constant search for a better way of doing things," stated Dr. J. Lloyd Trump, Secretary of the National Association of Secondary-School Principals, in addressing the faculty and staff at Frostburg State College, Thursday, in Compton Auditorium.

"No educational system compares with that of the United States; it is the best in the world," remarked Dr. Trump. "Because it is so good, I would not want to see us adopt that of any other country, but I do want to see it improved by embarking on a less uniform and rigid system than the Carnegie unit system, so long the accepted one."

In the opinion of Dr. Trump, students in American schools need more responsibility for their own learning and teaching schedules of the elementary and secondary school teachers should be reduced to fifteen class periods a week, with less clerical work.

"Teaching teams working with larger groups of students, clerks for correcting objective tests, instruction assistants with a college minor to correct themes, and general aids to police the corridors and playgrounds, would afford the fully trained teacher many more hours for resource competence and small group instruction," cited the educator.

"Future schools will reflect these changes," stressed Dr. Trump. "The heart of the schools will be the learning resources centers for students and the instructional materials centers for teachers."

Flexibility of school schedules will be reflected in tomorrow's schools. Less attention will be given to the school bell, which today breaks the school day into six or seven exactly equal periods of time. The future school will schedule students in class groups an average of only eighteen hours a week. The typical tenth grader may spend about twelve of these hours in large group instruction, six in small-group discussion. He will spend twelve hours in independent study. Electronic and mechanical devices will facilitate the making and revising of schedules.

"Automated teaching devices will enable each student to proceed at his own pace in acquiring basic facts and understanding," pointed out Dr. Trump. "Time allowed for individual study in depth in particular subject fields will vary according to the subject and student maturity."

Dr. Trump believes that tomorrow's schools, recognizing the differences among types of teaching, will provide opportunity for teachers to work in teaching teams and to have differentiated assignments. Changes in the manner in which teachers are selected and prepared, and the fact that they will have much more time during school hours to do genuine professional tasks, will accelerate the movement toward making teaching a profession. Teachers will differentiate between what they must do and what subprofessional assistants and machines can do.

"The NEA Research Division indicates that approximately one fourth of the junior and senior high schools are engaging in some elements of team teaching," says Dr. Trump. "By 1965, one half of the schools will have team teaching. It still insures personal contact, but also more competent teaching and a comparable teaching lead."

Dr. Trump returned from Stockholm last week where he attended the Congress of Teachers and where he also addressed the Norwegian Teachers Association.

Keyser Man Appointed To Luke Maintenance Post

LUKE — Promotion of James L. Newlin to the position of Maintenance Superintendent of West Virginia Pulp and Paper's Luke mill was announced yesterday.

Newlin succeeds George M. Griffith who is now assisting the mill's Industrial Relations Manager.

In announcing Newlin's promotion, Thompson pointed out that the maintenance effort at Luke is one of the mill's most important supporting functions, and he expressed confidence that the new maintenance superintendent would keep the program moving at top efficiency.

Newlin had been assistant maintenance superintendent since May 1961. He first joined the Luke mill forces in September 1951 as an engineer trainee in the power department and six months later became a technical assistant in the pipe shop. In February, 1954, he was assigned additional duties as technical assistant to other maintenance crafts. Newlin became general supervisor of maintenance crafts in June 1958 and was promoted to assistant maintenance superintendent three years later.

A native of Westernport, Newlin graduated from Pennsylvania Avenue High School, Cumberland, in 1936. He graduated from Potomac State College in 1949 with the highest scholastic honors, and in 1961 received his bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering from West Virginia University, graduating summa cum laude. He is a member of the scholastic honor fraternity Tau Beta Pi, engineering equivalent of Phi Beta Kapa, and the mechanical engineering scholastic honor fraternity Pi Tau Sigma.

The new maintenance superintendent served six years in the U. S. Army and Air Force. He entered the service in 1940 and was separated as a captain in the Air Force in 1946. He is serving as a major in the Air Force Reserve. Prior to 1940 he was employed as a test engineer for the Potomac Edison Company, Cumberland.

$10,000 Award To Be Presented

LOGAN, W. Va. (UPI) — The Logan County Woman's Club will receive the $10,000 first prize it won in a nationwide civic improvement contest Monday night at festivities to be attended by three West Virginia governors.

The check from the Sears Foundation will be presented by foundation president James T. Griffith of Chicago to club president Mrs. T. L. Henritze.

The local club placed first in a nationwide contest sponsored by the Sears Foundation and the General Federation of Women's Clubs, which drew more than 8,600 entries.

On hand for the gathering will be Gov. W. W. Barron and former governors Cecil H. Underwood and Okey L. Patteson, and their wives. Other top officials of the Sears Foundation and the women's clubs federation also will attend.

"The citizens of Logan County are extremely proud of the achievements of the Logan Woman's Club, and since the Centennial will be the top project of the club for 1963, we will be rewarding outstanding work in the past and assist in formulating plans for even greater accomplishments in the future," Logan County Centennial Chairman Glenn Jackson said.

Harpers Ferry Might Draw More Tourists

HARPERS FERRY, W. Va. (UPI) — Gov. W. W. Barron Friday thinks a name change for the Harpers Ferry National Monument would improve its ability to draw tourists.

Speaking at the dedication of a tourist information center here, Barron noted that the name "Harpers Ferry National Historic Park" has been proposed in a bill introduced in Congress by Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W. Va.

Barron said he understood the bill has been approved by a Senate committee.

Barron also praised Randolph for having been a chief sponsor of the legislation making the historic area a national monument and of a bill approved by Congress in 1960 which provided for the acqusition of the Storer College grounds here as part of the national park system.

The governor also plugged his statewide clean-up campaign.

"In developing your historical spots throughout the area and cleaning up your communities, you are making this an attractive place with something to interest visitors both from inside and outside the state."

Barron said the new tourist information center in the old Stagecoach Inn will mean much to the town, Jefferson County and nearby areas.

The child was scalded with hot water during the process of filling a washing machine. Fred Huff, son of Mr. and John Lewis, RFD 2, was treated after stepping on a nail.

Attorney, Store Owner Head Keyser CUF Drive

KEYSER — An attorney and a sporting goods store proprietor have accepted appointments as co-chairmen of the Keyser Area's Classified Division of the sixth and biggest County United Fund campaign, it was announced by Floyd C. Boor, campaign chairman of the Keyser area.

C. Reeves Taylor, prosecuting attorney for Mineral County, and Edgell L. Grayson, owner of Grayson's Sporting Goods, told chairman Boor that they were happy and grateful for the co-chairmen appointment.

In return, Mr. Boor said he was pleased to have these two men "who often have exhibited their qualities of leadership" and ability to get a job done leading such an important part of the County United Fund drive."

Mr. Taylor and Mr. Grayson will be heading a drive that has had $8,400 set as its 1962 goal. The total Keyser-McCoole area goal for this year is $23,900.

The overall goal for the County United Fund drive is $406,067, the biggest target in the six year history of CUF.

The newly-appointed co-chairmen viewed the 1962 drive with confidence and optimism and each predicted the campaign would be a big success.

They pointed to the fact that the Keyser area actually received more dollars in benefits last year than was contributed to the Big Givers' organization, even though the 1961 drive went over the goal.

Mr. Taylor, who served as classified co-chairman last year, remarked that the allocations committee's long study revealed an increase of 8.8 per cent in community needs.

"This is justification enough for my optimism, because I know the residents of the Keyser area will respond with enough courage to help meet those increased needs, cared for through the 30 agencies of CUF in both Allegany and Mineral counties," he observed.

Old Fields Boy Is Champion Sheep Shearer

LEWISBURG, W. Va. — Roger Kessel, 20-year-old 4-H boy from Old Fields, Hardy County, took top spot in the 15th annual State 4-H Sheep Shearing Contest held here in connection with the State Fair. He scored 94 out of a possible 100 points, over his nearest competitor, Earl Hause, Pocahontas County, who scored 90.4 points. In third place was Earl James, Wood County, with a score of 81.7 points.

Special gold, silver, and bronze medals were awarded by the West Virginia Wool Marketing Association to the top three high scorers in this year's contest.

The Australian system of shearing was used. Each boy sheared two sheep. Contestants were scored on time, absence of cuts on sheep, manner of handling sheep and appearance of the shorn wool.

The competition was judged by Joe Emch, state extension animal husbandry specialist of West Virginia University.

Superintendent Denies Rift Over School

ROMNEY — The superintendent of Hampshire County schools yesterday declared "there is no controversy here" concerning the combining of several first grade students with second graders.

Superintendent Bernard Hughes, referring to a protest made by a group of Springfield and Green Spring parents concerning first grade conditions at the joint Springfield-Green Spring school, said moves were made "to expedite the children's education."

Hughes said he met with a number of parents here Wednesday and the matter was then explained and settled.

The parents met with the superintendent to protest the school arrangement whereby 10 first graders were placed in a classroom with second graders. This move, the parents asserted, was in contrast with the understanding they had when the schools (Green Spring and Springfield) were merged last year.

A parents group spokesman stated Thursday that school officials cited as a merger advantage the fact that classrooms could be kept separate and a teacher asigned for each class.

Hughes said 10 first grade children were placed with second graders for each child's benefit. There were 40 children in the second grade classroom and only 19 in the first grade classroom, he said. The change puts 29 in one room and 30 in the other.

"This was done to equalize classroom population," the superintendent remarked.

The Springfield-Green Spring School is an eight-room school with an enrollment of 248.

He said a statement by a spokesman for the parents' group that some second graders were combined with third graders "is not correct."

In conclusion, the superintendent offered that the classroom situation, with 40 in one room and 19 in the other, was too much of a load for the second grade teacher, and that a more equal distribution will benefit the children concerned.

344 Are Enrolled At St. Peter's

WESTERNPORT — Three hundred forty-four pupils were enrolled at St. Peter School Thursday, less than opening day last year.

Registered in the first eight grades were 234, while 110 were enrolled in the high school.

The grades had a full day session Thursday but the high school only had a half a day session and both had a full day today.

$75,000 Could Develop Stony River For Tourists

Editor's Note: At a time when increasing emphasis is being placed on tourism in West Virginia, one of the state's top potential outdoor attractions lies unexploited and almost unknown. Here is the second of two dispatches telling the story of this undeveloped resource.

By J. RICHARD TOREN
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—"It grieves us," former West Virginia Gov. Cecil H. Underwood once wrote concerning Stony River Reservoir, "to see this wonderful potential remain undeveloped for recreational purposes."

If Stony River is as good as its enthusiastic backers indicate, what's keeping it from taking a place as an outstanding outdoor attraction?

There's no simple answer to this question, but there is a basic fact—the reservoir, fourth largest body in water in West Virginia, is privately owned.

West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. built the dam and reservoir 50 years ago to help assure a constant flow of water for its big plant at Luke, Md. Luke is downstream on the North Branch of the Potomac, which Stony River joins about 20 miles downstream from the reservoir.

Access Not Easy

The company still needs the reservoir for that purpose, and feels obligated to maintain its water rights when and if it turns development rights over to the state.

The reservoir can be reached only by a privately-owned, steep mountainous road from the east and a jeep trail from the west. Fishing there has been confined to a few company employes, a handful of persons who have obtained permits from the company, and an occasional resident of the area.

But nearly 10 years ago the Conservation Commission's fish management division got company approval for stocking the lake with Kokanee salmon for purposes of studying how they would reproduce.

Results were encouraging, and the commission made a very tentative start toward opening negotiations with Pulp and Paper to worked out for development of public fishing in the area.

These moved slowly, although the company was never anything but cooperative. In 1959, Gov. Cecil H. Underwood talked over the situation with company president David Luke during a visit in New York, and later wrote to Luke:

"...we are convinced that this facility could provide a great source of mutual accommodation. At no time would we want to interfere with your industrial operation, but it grieves us to see this wonderful potential remain undeveloped for recreational purposes."

But matters were allowed to simmer down after reaching a stage where State officials, with pressure for development of other projects coming from all directions, have never put the necessary drive behind the negotiations.

Ailes Is Commissioned

Contributing to this lack of push is the fact that the reservoir is so little known to the public, located as it is in one of West Virginia's more remote areas.

However, earlier this year Romney attorney John Ailes, also a former member of the Conservation Commission, was commissioned by State Natural Resources Director Warden M. Lane to pursue the matter further with Pulp and Paper Co. officials.

Carl Sullivan, state Centennial director, former Conservation Commission member and one of Stony River's major enthusiasts, believes it would take only $75,000 to $125,000 to turn the area into a topnotch tourist and sportsman's attraction. That would include an improved access road, boat launching facilities, camping sites and "reclaiming" the reservoir.

Sullivan, a former fisheries biologist, notes that creek chubs—one of the larger and more voracious members of the minnow family—have driven out trout and most other species. But it would be a relatively simple matter, he says, to clear the reservoir and tributaries of undesirable fish, and start over with trout and possible other game fish.

As Sullivan wrote a year ago, and still firmly believes: "The opportunities for the development of this area are almost unlimited."

"Automated teaching devices will enable each student to proceed at his own pace in acquiring basic facts and understanding," pointed out Dr. Trump. "Time allowed for individual study in depth in particular subject fields will vary according to the subject and student maturity."

Dr. Trump believes that tomorrow's schools, recognizing the differences among types of teaching, will provide opportunity for teachers to work in teaching teams and to have differentiated assignments. Changes in the manner in which teachers are selected and prepared, and the fact that they will have much more time during school hours to do genuine professional tasks, will accelerate the movement toward making teaching a profession. Teachers will differentiate between what they must do and what subprofessional assistants and machines can do.

"The NEA Research Division indicates that approximately one fourth of the junior and senior high schools are engaging in some elements of team teaching," says Dr. Trump. "By 1965, one half of the schools will have team teaching. It still insures personal contact, but also more competent teaching and a comparable teaching lead."

Dr. Trump returned from Stockholm last week where he attended the Congress of Teachers and where he also addressed the Norwegian Teachers Association.

Keyser Man Appointed To Luke Maintenance Post

LUKE — Promotion of James L. Newlin to the position of Maintenance Superintendent of West Virginia Pulp and Paper's Luke mill was announced yesterday.

Newlin succeeds George M. Griffith who is now assisting the mill's Industrial Relations Manager.

In announcing Newlin's promotion, Thompson pointed out that the maintenance effort at Luke is one of the mill's most important supporting functions, and he expressed confidence that the new maintenance superintendent would keep the program moving at top efficiency.

Newlin had been assistant maintenance superintendent since May 1961. He first joined the Luke mill forces in September 1951 as an engineer trainee in the power department and six months later became a technical assistant in the pipe shop. Harpers Ferry Might Draw More Tourists

HARPERS FERRY, W. Va. (UPI) — Gov. W. W. Barron Friday thinks a name change for the Harpers Ferry National Monument would improve its ability to draw tourists.

Speaking at the dedication of a tourist information center here, Barron noted that the name "Harpers Ferry National Historic Park" has been proposed in a bill introduced in Congress by Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W. Va.

Barron said he understood the bill has been approved by a Senate committee.

Barron also praised Randolph for having been a chief sponsor of the legislation making the historic area a national monument and of a bill approved by Congress in 1960 which provided for the acqusition of the Storer College grounds here as part of the national park system.

The governor also plugged his statewide clean-up campaign.

"In developing your historical spots throughout the area and cleaning up your communities, you are making this an attractive place with something to interest visitors both from inside and outside the state."

Barron said the new tourist information center in the old Stagecoach Inn will mean much to the town, Jefferson County and nearby areas.

LOGAN, W. Va. (UPI) — The Logan County Woman's Club will receive the $10,000 first prize it won in a nationwide civic improvement contest Monday night at festivities to be attended by three West Virginia governors.

The check from the Sears Foundation will be presented by foundation president James T. Griffith of Chicago to club president Mrs. T. L. Henritze.

The local club placed first in a nationwide contest sponsored by the Sears Foundation and the General Federation of Women's Clubs, which drew more than 8,600 entries.

The public meeting at Logan County Memorial Field House also will officially launch the activities of Logan County's Centennial Committee.

On hand for the gathering will be Gov. W. W. Barron and former governors Cecil H. Underwood and Okey L. Patteson, and their wives. Other top officials of the Sears Foundation and the women's clubs federation also will attend.

"The citizens of Logan County are extremely proud of the achievements of the Logan Woman's Club, and since the Centennial will be the top project of the club for 1963, we will be rewarding outstanding work in the past and assist in formulating plans for even greater accomplishments in the future," Logan County Centennial Chairman Glenn Jackson said.

Bruce High's Enrollment Advances 30

WESTERNPORT — Bruce High School has enrolled 842 students for the 1962-63 term, according to Principal Kenneth Sheetz. School opened Wednesday.

The enrollment is 30 more than it was opening day last year. It does not include seventh graders from Bloomington who will attend another school this year.

Most of the new enrolleees come from approximately 25 families who have moved into the Westernport-McCoole area.

The faculty is comprised of 37 teachers.

New members of the faculty are Peter Ladygo, football coach who will teach industrial arts; Oris Thomas Harman, assistant football coach who will teach social studies; James King, recent Frostburg State Teacher's College graduate, will succeed Robert Thomas as mathematics teacher; Mrs. Susana Dye, also recent Frostburg graduate, who will teach senior English, and Dorothy Doolan, who will teach seventh grade science and social studies.

Robert Thomas and Gerald Null have been transferred from Bruce to Allegany High School. John Post resigned and Miss Nellie Kooken, retired.

Attorney, Store Owner Head Keyser CUF Drive

KEYSER — An attorney and a sporting goods store proprietor have accepted appointments as co-chairmen of the Keyser Area's Classified Division of the sixth and biggest County United Fund campaign, it was announced by Floyd C. Boor, campaign chairman of the Keyser area.

C. Reeves Taylor, prosecuting attorney for Mineral County, and Edgell L. Grayson, owner of Grayson's Sporting Goods, told chairman Boor that they were happy and grateful for the co-chairmen appointment.

In return, Mr. Boor said he was pleased to have these two men "who often have exhibited their qualities of leadership" and ability to get a job done leading such an important part of the County United Fund drive."

Mr. Taylor and Mr. Grayson will be heading a drive that has had $8,400 set as its 1962 goal. The total Keyser-McCoole area goal for this year is $23,900.

The overall goal for the County United Fund drive is $406,067, the biggest target in the six year history of CUF.

The newly-appointed co-chairmen viewed the 1962 drive with confidence and optimism and each predicted the campaign would be a big success.

They pointed to the fact that the Keyser area actually received more dollars in benefits last year than was contributed to the Big Givers' organization, even though the 1961 drive went over the goal.

Mr. Taylor, who served as classified co-chairman last year, remarked that the allocations committee's long study revealed an increase of 5.8 per cent in community needs.

"This is justification enough for my optimism, because I know the residents of the Keyser area will respond with enough courage to help meet those increased needs, cared for through the 30 agencies of CUF in both Allegany and Mineral counties," he observed.

Superintendent Denies Rift Over School

ROMNEY — The superintendent of Hampshire County schools yesterday declared "there is no controversy here" concerning the combining of several first grade students with second graders.

Superintendent Bernard Hughes, referring to a protest made by a group of Springfield and Green Spring parents concerning first grade conditions at the joint Springfield-Green Spring school, said moves were made "to expedite the children's education."

Hughes said he met with a number of parents here Wednesday and the matter was then explained and settled.

The parents met with the superintendent to protest the school arrangement whereby 10 first graders were placed in a classroom with second graders. This move, the parents asserted, was in contrast with the understanding they had when the schools (Green Spring and Springfield) were merged last year.

A parents group spokesman stated Thursday that school officials cited as a merger advantage the fact that classrooms could be kept separate and a teacher asigned for each class.

Hughes said 10 first grade children were placed with second graders for each child's benefit. There were 40 children in the second grade classroom and only 19 in the first grade classroom, he said. The change puts 29 in one room and 30 in the other.

"This was done to equalize classroom population," the superintendent remarked.

The Springfield-Green Spring School is an eight-room school with an enrollment of 248.

He said a statement by a spokesman for the parents' group that some second graders were combined with third graders "is not correct."

In conclusion, the superintendent offered that the classroom situation, with 40 in one room and 19 in the other, was too much of a load for the second grade teacher, and that a more equal distribution will benefit the children concerned.

$75,000 Could Develop Stony River For Tourists

Editor's Note: At a time when increasing emphasis is being placed on tourism in West Virginia, one of the state's top potential outdoor attractions lies unexploited and almost unknown. Here is the second of two dispatches telling the story of this undeveloped resource.

By J. RICHARD TOREN
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—"It grieves us," former West Virginia Gov. Cecil H. Underwood once wrote concerning Stony River Reservoir, "to see this wonderful potential remain undeveloped for recreational purposes."

If Stony River is as good as its enthusiastic backers indicate, what's keeping it from taking a place as an outstanding outdoor attraction?

There's no simple answer to this question, but there is a basic fact—the reservoir, fourth largest body in water in West Virginia, is privately owned.

West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. built the dam and reservoir 50 years ago to help assure a constant flow of water for its big plant at Luke, Md. Luke is downstream on the North Branch of the Potomac, which Stony River joins about 20 miles downstream from the reservoir.

Access Not Easy

The company still needs the reservoir for that purpose, and feels obligated to maintain its water rights when and if it turns development rights over to the state.

The reservoir can be reached only by a privately-owned, steep mountainous road from the east and a jeep trail from the west. Fishing there has been confined to a few company employes, a handful of persons who have obtained permits from the company, and an occasional resident of the area.

But nearly 10 years ago the Conservation Commission's fish management division got company approval for stocking the lake with Kokanee salmon for purposes of studying how they would reproduce.

Results were encouraging, and the commission made a very tentative start toward opening negotiations with Pulp and Paper to worked out for development of public fishing in the area.

These moved slowly, although the company was never anything but cooperative. In 1959, Gov. Cecil H. Underwood talked over the situation with company president David Luke during a visit in New York, and later wrote to Luke:

"...we are convinced that this facility could provide a great source of mutual accommodation. At no time would we want to interfere with your industrial operation, but it grieves us to see this wonderful potential remain undeveloped for recreational purposes."

But matters were allowed to simmer down after reaching a stage where State officials, with pressure for development of other projects coming from all directions, have never put the necessary drive behind the negotiations.

Ailes Is Commissioned

Contributing to this lack of push is the fact that the reservoir is so little known to the public, located as it is in one of West Virginia's more remote areas.

However, earlier this year Romney attorney John Ailes, also a former member of the Conservation Commission, was commissioned by State Natural Resources Director Warden M. Lane to pursue the matter further with Pulp and Paper Co. officials.

Carl Sullivan, state Centennial director, former Conservation Commission member and one of Stony River's major enthusiasts, believes it would take only $75,000 to $125,000 to turn the area into a topnotch tourist and sportsman's attraction. That would include an improved access road, boat launching facilities, camping sites and "reclaiming" the reservoir.

Sullivan, a former fisheries biologist, notes that creek chubs—one of the larger and more voracious members of the minnow family—have driven out trout and most other species. But it would be a relatively simple matter, he says, to clear the reservoir and tributaries of undesirable fish, and start over with trout and possible other game fish.

As Sullivan wrote a year ago, and still firmly believes: "The opportunities for the development of this area are almost unlimited."

So what else is new???

The high school football season opened in Cumberland last night and the story at Fort Hill Stadium was a familiar one: Fort Hill defeated LaSalle, 48-7.

In the case of the perennially tough Sentinels, not even too many of the faces were new. Coach Charlie Lattimer's experienced front-liners rolled up a 41-0 bulge at halftime, then sat back after the between-halves break and watched their understudies perform.

LaSalle, on the other hand, had five sophomores in the starting lineup and the over-all lack of experience was evident. The Explorers avoided a shutout when sophomore quarterback Tom Kyhos passed to sophomore end Wiesenmiller with 3:19 left in the game.

Smith Scores First

Fort Hill had its first touchdown with less than five minutes gone in the contest. Colin Smith, one of the returnees from last year's city championship eleven, hauled in a seven-yard pass from Del Proudfoot with 7:09 remaining in the first quarter, and the Sentinels were off and winging.

Proudfoot, second-string quarterback last year behind the slick Ronnie Manges, guided the Sentinels' offense like a veteran last night. The slender six-foot senior connected on four of five pass attempts (two for touchdowns) and his expert faking had the Explorer defenses completely outfoxed. He also accounted for one of the seven Sentinel touchdowns personally, on a quarterback sneak from two yards out.

It was Smith, however, who proved the most troublesome of the Red Raiders to keep in check. In addition to scoring a pair of TDs on Proudfoot-propelled passes, the southpaw halfback pitched for one himself, connecting with end Jack Williams on a 32-yarder late in the first period.

Sets Up Fifth TD

Smith set up the fifth Fort Hill score by returning Terry McElfish's punt 41 yards to the LaSalle four, from where Rich Robinson acrried the ball over the next play.

After that, Lattimer began substitution freely and reserve backs scored the final two touchdowns for Fort Hill—Wally Harper on a one-yard thrust and Gene Zais on a 23-yard run.

Place - kicking specialist Pat Wilson barely missed a perfect night in the point-after-touchdown department. He booted his first five attempts squarely through the uprights, but his sixth try was slightly wide to the right. He then added the point following Zais' TD early in the final frame.

The Sentinels produced a statistical oddity by compiling an identical yardage total in rushing and passing (170) for a net compilation of 340. The Explorers, who could go nowhere on the ground, picked up 95 yards on 12 pass completions in 31 attempts.

Last night's 29th Fort Hill-LaSalle clash, which attracted a good turnout on a perfect football night, marked the coaching debut of Paul "Bubbles" Thompson, who took over the reins at LaSalle following the resignation of Don Harden.

A 7-yard run by Bauman and Bauman's 10-yard pass to Cook accounted for the Ridgeley touchdowns in the final stanza after the Indians from Pendleton county had taken a 18-8 lead.

Bauman's 40-yard punt return gave Ridgeley its first td in the opening period.

Ron Williams accounted for two of Circleville's three touchdowns, one on a 12-yard pass from Casto and the other on an aerial from Casto which covered 40 yards. Boggs' 7-yard run produced the Tribe's other six-pointer.

Westernport Wins On Broadwater's 3-Run Homer, 7-6

Midland's pennant-winning Old Exports ushered Barton out of the Twilight Baseball League's semi-final playoffs in two straight games by winning yesterday at Barton by the score of 5-2.

Westernport tied up its series with Keyser at one victory each by beating the Mineral Countians at Westernport, 7-6, when Clyde Broadwater smashed a three-run homer in the bottom of the seventh inning.

Francis Allen gained the nod over Mike Muir in the slab duel at Barton in which each pitcher yielded eight hits.

The game was highlighted by the fielding of Tom Dunn, Midland centerfielder, who turned in three nice running catches.

Jack Brodie and Joe Rogish collected two hits each and Fay Often and "Moose" Arnone smacked two-baggers for Midland. John Thomas collected a double and single and George Lauder belted a solo homer and single for Barton.

Allen fanned four and Muir struck out three.

Beall High School came from behind in the closing minutes of play to eke out a 13-12 decision over Petersburg High School's Vikings last night before approximately 1,200 person at Frostburg in the opening Potomac Valley Conference grid contest for both schools.

Trailing 12-6 with less than two minutes remaining, the Mountaineers pulled the game out of the fire when Morey Linn passed to Bruce Shirey who lateraled to Wayne Harper and the latter raced to pay dirt. The play covered 49 yards and came on third down with short yardage to go, tied the score at 12-12, and Harper plunged to point to give Beall victory.

Ralph Spriggs set up the winning score when he returned the kickoff from his own 10 to the 45. Two plays put the ball on the 49 before Beall connected for the td.

Beall scored in the opening period when Wayne Harper skirted left end for 77 yards but Joe James' place kick for the point was blocked.

Petersburg drove 58 yards for its initial score in the third quarter. During the drive Reynolds passed to Mongold for 35 yards. Jim Ketterman accounted for the 6-pointer on a plunge from the two. Petersburg's placement was wide.

The Grant countains took a 12-6 lead early in the final period when Reynolds, on fourth down, rolled out to his right to score from the four. A blocked punt which Petersburg recovered on Beall's 15 set the stage for this score.

Wayne Harper was Beall's offensive star while Bruce Snelson and Gar Baker stood out on defense. Jim Ketterman and Reynolds were Petersburg's best bets.

Laver, Emerson, McKinley Reach Quarter-Finals

Richardson Defeats Veteran Vic Seixas

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI)—Australia's Rod Laver and Roy Emerson and chunky Chuck McKinley of St. Ann, Mo., seeded one, two, three, pounded into the quarterfinals of the U.S. singles tennis championships Friday with only one of them drawing a deep breath along the way.

Emerson, defending champion and hopeful of checking Laver's bid for a grand slam, was forced to go five sets against slugging Mike Sangster of Britain before he solved the world's fastest amateur service and pulled out the match, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 9-11, 6-1.

Laver dusted Antonio Palafox of Mexico, 6-1, 6-2, 6-2, and McKinley, America's chief hope, ousted lefthanded Jan Leschley of Denmark, 6-0, 6-3, 7-5, missing on four match points before he put over the winner against the nervous Dane.

Hamilton Richardson, 29-year-old former ranking ace now living in Dallas, knocked over 39-year-old Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, 12-10, 7-5, 4-6, 6-1, for the right to meet McKinley Saturday, and 20-year-old Andy Lloyd of Shreveport, La., made it into the final eight by downing Reino Nyyssonen of Finland, 9-7, 6-3, 6-4. Andy meets Emerson Saturday.

Cleveland Edges Athletics, 2-1

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Relief pitchers John Wyatt walked home the winning run in the bottom of the ninth inning as the Cleveland Indians edged the Kansas City Athletics, 2-1, Friday night behind the two-hit pitching of Pedro Ramos.

Wyatt, who replaced starter Orlando Pena with the bases loaded and one out in the ninth, threw four straight balls to Jerry Kindall to force in Jim Mahoney with the winning run.

Barrelville, Grantsville Sites For Pen-Mar Games

Host Frostburg, And Mt. Savage In Sunday Contests

Action in the Pen-Mar Baseball League playoffs shifts to Barrelville and Grantsville for contests on Sunday.

Frostburg's Merchants battle the Barrelville Old Exports in the second game of their best-of-three semi-final series at 2:30 p.m., and a victory would advance Manager Raymond "Buck" Fiorita's team to the finals. Barrelville won the opener by the score of 8-4 on Labor Day. Frostburg had won four straight from Barrelville during the regular season by scores of 5-4, 5-2, 10-9 and 3-2.

Mt. Savage, which defeated Frostburg in a playoff game for the pennant after the teams finished the regular season in a tie, invades Grantsville for the second game of their playoff series tomorrow at 2:30.

The Old Germans got the jump in the series by taking the opener on Labor Day, 6-5, and could eliminate the Garrett Countians by copping Sunday's contest. Mt. Savage defeated the Sluggers by scores of 9-6, 7-6 and 7-6 and lost by the score of 8-3 during the regular season.

If the third games are necessary in either series they will be played Saturday, September 15, so the final playoff series can get under way on Sunday, September 16.

Umpires for tomorrow's games are "Moose" Arnone and John Frank at Barrelville and Bill Andrews and Al Martin at Grantsville.

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Willie Pastrano, two-to-one favorite to beat Rudolfo Diaz in their light heavyweight bout here Saturday night, got an extra spur Friday—a promised shot at the world title.

Madison Square Garden matchmaker Teddy Brenner, here to take in Saturday's nationally televised 10-round fight between the former French Quarter fatty and the Argentine slugger, said "if Willie makes a good showing, he'll go against Harold Johnson for the light-heavyweight title."

So what else is new???

The high school football season opened in Cumberland last night and the story at Fort Hill Stadium was a familiar one: Fort Hill defeated LaSalle, 48-7.

In the case of the perennially tough Sentinels, not even too many of the faces were new. Coach Charlie Lattimer's experienced front-liners rolled up a 41-0 bulge at halftime, then sat back after the between-halves break and watched their understudies perform.

LaSalle, on the other hand, had five sophomores in the starting lineup and the over-all lack of experience was evident. The Explorers avoided a shutout when sophomore quarterback Tom Kyhos passed to sophomore end Wiesenmiller with 3:19 left in the game.

Smith Scores First

Fort Hill had its first touchdown with less than five minutes gone in the contest. Colin Smith, one of the returnees from last year's city championship eleven, hauled in a seven-yard pass from Del Proudfoot with 7:09 remaining in the first quarter, and the Sentinels were off and winging.

Proudfoot, second-string quarterback last year behind the slick Ronnie Manges, guided the Sentinels' offense like a veteran last night. The slender six-foot senior connected on four of five pass attempts (two for touchdowns) and his expert faking had the Explorer defenses completely outfoxed. He also accounted for one of the seven Sentinel touchdowns personally, on a quarterback sneak from two yards out.

It was Smith, however, who proved the most troublesome of the Red Raiders to keep in check. In addition to scoring a pair of TDs on Proudfoot-propelled passes, the southpaw halfback pitched for one himself, connecting with end Jack Williams on a 32-yarder late in the first period.

Sets Up Fifth TD

Smith set up the fifth Fort Hill score by returning Terry McElfish's punt 41 yards to the LaSalle four, from where Rich Robinson acrried the ball over the next play.

After that, Lattimer began substitution freely and reserve backs scored the final two touchdowns for Fort Hill—Wally Harper on a one-yard thrust and Gene Zais on a 23-yard run.

Place - kicking specialist Pat Wilson barely missed a perfect night in the point-after-touchdown department. He booted his first five attempts squarely through the uprights, but his sixth try was slightly wide to the right. He then added the point following Zais' TD early in the final frame.

The Sentinels produced a statistical oddity by compiling an identical yardage total in rushing and passing (170) for a net compilation of 340. The Explorers, who could go nowhere on the ground, picked up 95 yards on 12 pass completions in 31 attempts.

Last night's 29th Fort Hill-LaSalle clash, which attracted a good turnout on a perfect football night, marked the coaching debut of Paul "Bubbles" Thompson, who took over the reins at LaSalle following the resignation of Don Harden.

Beall High School came from behind in the closing minutes of play to eke out a 13-12 decision over Petersburg High School's Vikings last night before approximately 1,200 person at Frostburg in the opening Potomac Valley Conference grid contest for both schools.

Trailing 12-6 with less than two minutes remaining, the Mountaineers pulled the game out of the fire when Morey Linn passed to Bruce Shirey who lateraled to Wayne Harper and the latter raced to pay dirt. The play covered 49 yards and came on third down with short yardage to go, tied the score at 12-12, and Harper plunged to point to give Beall victory.

Ralph Spriggs set up the winning score when he returned the kickoff from his own 10 to the 45. Two plays put the ball on the 49 before Beall connected for the td.

Beall scored in the opening period when Wayne Harper skirted left end for 77 yards but Joe James' place kick for the point was blocked.

Petersburg drove 58 yards for its initial score in the third quarter. During the drive Reynolds passed to Mongold for 35 yards. Jim Ketterman accounted for the 6-pointer on a plunge from the two. Petersburg's placement was wide.

The Grant countains took a 12-6 lead early in the final period when Reynolds, on fourth down, rolled out to his right to score from the four. A blocked punt which Petersburg recovered on Beall's 15 set the stage for this score.

Wayne Harper was Beall's offensive star while Bruce Snelson and Gar Baker stood out on defense. Jim Ketterman and Reynolds were Petersburg's best bets.

Laver, Emerson, McKinley Reach Quarter-Finals

Richardson Defeats Veteran Vic Seixas

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI)—Australia's Rod Laver and Roy Emerson and chunky Chuck McKinley of St. Ann, Mo., seeded one, two, three, pounded into the quarterfinals of the U.S. singles tennis championships Friday with only one of them drawing a deep breath along the way.

Emerson, defending champion and hopeful of checking Laver's bid for a grand slam, was forced to go five sets against slugging Mike Sangster of Britain before he solved the world's fastest amateur service and pulled out the match, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 9-11, 6-1.

Laver dusted Antonio Palafox of Mexico, 6-1, 6-2, 6-2, and McKinley, America's chief hope, ousted lefthanded Jan Leschley of Denmark, 6-0, 6-3, 7-5, missing on four match points before he put over the winner against the nervous Dane.

Hamilton Richardson, 29-year-old former ranking ace now living in Dallas, knocked over 39-year-old Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, 12-10, 7-5, 4-6, 6-1, for the right to meet McKinley Saturday, and 20-year-old Andy Lloyd of Shreveport, La., made it into the final eight by downing Reino Nyyssonen of Finland, 9-7, 6-3, 6-4. Andy meets Emerson Saturday.

Cleveland Edges Athletics, 2-1

Host Frostburg, And Mt. Savage In Sunday Contests

Action in the Pen-Mar Baseball League playoffs shifts to Barrelville and Grantsville for contests on Sunday.

Frostburg's Merchants battle the Barrelville Old Exports in the second game of their best-of-three semi-final series at 2:30 p.m., and a victory would advance Manager Raymond "Buck" Fiorita's team to the finals. Barrelville won the opener by the score of 8-4 on Labor Day. Frostburg had won four straight from Barrelville during the regular season by scores of 5-4, 5-2, 10-9 and 3-2.

Mt. Savage, which defeated Frostburg in a playoff game for the pennant after the teams finished the regular season in a tie, invades Grantsville for the second game of their playoff series tomorrow at 2:30.

The Old Germans got the jump in the series by taking the opener on Labor Day, 6-5, and could eliminate the Garrett Countians by copping Sunday's contest. Mt. Savage defeated the Sluggers by scores of 9-6, 7-6 and 7-6 and lost by the score of 8-3 during the regular season.

If the third games are necessary in either series they will be played Saturday, September 15, so the final playoff series can get under way on Sunday, September 16.

Umpires for tomorrow's games are "Moose" Arnone and John Frank at Barrelville and Bill Andrews and Al Martin at Grantsville.

Halfback Ralph Keller shouldered most of the offensive load yesterday in leading Moorefield's Yellowjackets to a 13-6 victory over the Southern High Highlanders. The Potomac Valley Conference battle staged at Moorefield was the season opener for both schools.

Keller scored both Moorefield touchdowns—one on a short end sweep and the other on a 15-yard-pass—and kicked the extra point following his first TD to give the Jackets a 7-6 halftime advantage.

Southern had scored first following Dintaman's interception of a pass by Jim Flinn at the Moorefield 28. Dintaman tossed to Corbin for a first down at the 13, then John Thayer bulled his way in three plays to the one, from where Harold Mosser went over for the initial score.

Later in the second period, Keller hauled in Flinn's aerial for the equalizer and promptly gave Moorefield the upper hand by booting the extra point. In the final quarter, Keller set up the clincher when he returned a Southern punt 40 yards to the Highlanders' 20. Allen Crites maneuvered the ball to the two and Keller carried it over.

Yesterday's game marked the coaching debut of Tom Domen at Southern. Domen replaced Earl "Whitey" Adolfson, who guided the fortunes of the Highlanders for three seasons.

Romney High School's Pioneers, only unbeaten team in the area last season, picked up where they left off yesterday by shutting out Charles Town High, 15-0, at Romney.

A stout defense that kept the Purple Panthers at bay all afternoon coupled with a strong ground attack featured the opening victory by Coach Roger Parker's Hampshire County crew.

Sam Graham, Pioneer fullback, scored both touchdowns on short thrusts through the line. The first Romney score came in the second period. They tallied again in the final stanza and added two points for good measure when, on the last play of the game, the Purple Panthers' Larry Wilt fell on a fumble in his end zone for a safety.

Charles Town's deepest surge into Romney territory came in the third quarter when they maneuvered the ball to the 15-yard line.

Yankees Buy Skinny Brown

Pay Birds $20,000 For Veteran Hurler

NEW YORK (UPI) — Veteran knuckleball pitcher Hal (Skinny) Brown was purchased by the New York Yankees Friday from the Baltimore Orioles and Yankee manager Ralph Houk hailed Brown as "excellent insurance for our late-season drive."

The purchase was a waiver deal for the standard waiver price of $20,000, which meant that all eight other Amerian League teams had to pass on Brown before the Yankees could get him.

"Brown is an experienced man who can be used as a spot starter or a long relief man," said Houk.

The Yankees also announced they have recalled 13 minor-league farm hands, three of them to report on Monday and the other 10 next spring.

Infielder-outfielder Joe Pepitone, infielder Jake Gibbs, and pitcher Al Downing, all of whom played at Richmond this summer, will join the Yankees in Detroit on Monday.

Old Furnace won the first game of the series by the score of 16-12.

World Series Opens Oct. 3

First Two Games In National Park

NEW YORK (UPI) — The World Series will open on Wednesday, Oct. 3, in the park of the National League champion, it was agreed Friday in a meeting in the office of baseball commissioner Ford Frick.

Series dates, starting times, and ticket prices were set at the meeting among representatives of teams involved in the pennant races and Frick.

The first two games of the series will be played at the park of the National League pennant winner on Wed., Oct. 3 and Thurs., Oct. 4. Friday Oct. 5 will be a day off for travel. The third, fourth and, if necessary, fifth games will be in the home of the American League champion, Sat., Oct. 6, Sun., Oct. 7, and Monday, Oct. 8.

Tuesday, Oct. 9 will be an off day for travel, and the sixth and seventh games, if necesary, will be played in the NL park, Wed., Oct. 10, and Thurs. Oct. 11.

The exception to this schedule would be in the event of a series between the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Los Angeles Angels, in which case there would be no travel dates and the games would be played on consecutive days.

All games will start at 1 p.m. local time — the time in the city in which they are played. The exception to this would be any games in San Francisco, which would start at noon San Francisco time.

Angels Top Birds In 10th Frame, 5-4

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The Los Angeles Angels scored two runs in the 10th inning and then used three pitchers in the bottom of the inning to hold on for a 5-4 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Friday night.

Leon Wagner opened the 10th with a double, his fourth hit, off losing pitcher Dick Luebke, who was then replaced by Hoyt Wilhelm. Bob Rodgers laid down a sacrifice bunt and both runners were safe when Wagner beat Wilhelm's throw to third base.

Lefthander Ted Bowsfield replaced winning pitcher Dan Osinski and struck out Jim Gentile. Tom Morgan then came on and got the final two outs.

Baltimore had tied the score at 3-3 with two out in the ninth when pinchhitter Charlie Lau doubled and pinchhitter Jackie Brandt scored him with a single.

Keyser High School suffered its first defeat on the opening day of the football season in ten years yesterday when Martinsburg High School's Bulldogs downed the Golden Tornado at Keyser by the score of 13-7.

Keyser had won nine consecutive opening day engagements since losing to Morgantown in 1952 and had blanked Martinsburg in 1961 by the score of 6-0 and in 1960 by the score of 33-0.

A 14-yard touchdown run by Jimmie Shields, Martinsburg halfback, in the final quarter enabled Coach Dick Harmison's Bulldogs to score a come-from-behind victory after Keyser had taken a 7-6 lead in the third quarter. John Reuter ran the extra point to give the Berkeley coutains a six-point margin at the finish. Keyser got off a bad kick to its own 35 to set the stage for the Bulldogs' winning drive.

Martinsburg scored the first touchdown of the game in the second period when Doug Stewart fired a 32-yard pass to John Hylton for the six-pointer.

In the third quarter, Charles "Chuck" Bradfield, raced 90 yards to the Martinsburg 10 before being brought down. Three plays later, Bradfield slammed over from the two for Keyser's lone td. He also ran the point to give KHS a 7-6 advantage.

Halfback Ralph Keller shouldered most of the offensive load yesterday in leading Moorefield's Yellowjackets to a 13-6 victory over the Southern High Highlanders. The Potomac Valley Conference battle staged at Moorefield was the season opener for both schools.

Keller scored both Moorefield touchdowns—one on a short end sweep and the other on a 15-yard-pass—and kicked the extra point following his first TD to give the Jackets a 7-6 halftime advantage.

Southern had scored first following Dintaman's interception of a pass by Jim Flinn at the Moorefield 28. Dintaman tossed to Corbin for a first down at the 13, then John Thayer bulled his way in three plays to the one, from where Harold Mosser went over for the initial score.

Later in the second period, Keller hauled in Flinn's aerial for the equalizer and promptly gave Moorefield the upper hand by booting the extra point. In the final quarter, Keller set up the clincher when he returned a Southern punt 40 yards to the Highlanders' 20. Allen Crites maneuvered the ball to the two and Keller carried it over.

Yesterday's game marked the coaching debut of Tom Domen at Southern. Domen replaced Earl "Whitey" Adolfson, who guided the fortunes of the Highlanders for three seasons.

Romney High School's Pioneers, only unbeaten team in the area last season, picked up where they left off yesterday by shutting out Charles Town High, 15-0, at Romney.

A stout defense that kept the Purple Panthers at bay all afternoon coupled with a strong ground attack featured the opening victory by Coach Roger Parker's Hampshire County crew.

Sam Graham, Pioneer fullback, scored both touchdowns on short thrusts through the line. The first Romney score came in the second period. They tallied again in the final stanza and added two points for good measure when, on the last play of the game, the Purple Panthers' Larry Wilt fell on a fumble in his end zone for a safety.

Charles Town's deepest surge into Romney territory came in the third quarter when they maneuvered the ball to the 15-yard line.

Yankees Buy Skinny Brown

Pay Birds $20,000 For Veteran Hurler

NEW YORK (UPI) — Veteran knuckleball pitcher Hal (Skinny) Brown was purchased by the New York Yankees Friday from the Baltimore Orioles and Yankee manager Ralph Houk hailed Brown as "excellent insurance for our late-season drive."

The purchase was a waiver deal for the standard waiver price of $20,000, which meant that all eight other Amerian League teams had to pass on Brown before the Yankees could get him.

"Brown is an experienced man who can be used as a spot starter or a long relief man," said Houk.

The Yankees also announced they have recalled 13 minor-league farm hands, three of them to report on Monday and the other 10 next spring.

Infielder-outfielder Joe Pepitone, infielder Jake Gibbs, and pitcher Al Downing, all of whom played at Richmond this summer, will join the Yankees in Detroit on Monday.

Old Furnace won the first game of the series by the score of 16-12.

Los Angeles Lakers Purchase Barnett

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Los Angeles Lakers announced Friday they have purchased guard Dick Barnett from the Syracuse Nationals in "one of the largest cash deals ever made" in the National Basketball Association.

Barnett, 6-foot-4, 190 pounds, averaged 16.9 points a game with the Nats in the 1960-61 season. He spent last season playing with the now-disbanded Cleveland Pipers.

World Series Opens Oct. 3

First Two Games In National Park

NEW YORK (UPI) — The World Series will open on Wednesday, Oct. 3, in the park of the National League champion, it was agreed Friday in a meeting in the office of baseball commissioner Ford Frick.

Series dates, starting times, and ticket prices were set at the meeting among representatives of teams involved in the pennant races and Frick.

The first two games of the series will be played at the park of the National League pennant winner on Wed., Oct. 3 and Thurs., Oct. 4. Friday Oct. 5 will be a day off for travel. The third, fourth and, if necessary, fifth games will be in the home of the American League champion, Sat., Oct. 6, Sun., Oct. 7, and Monday, Oct. 8.

Tuesday, Oct. 9 will be an off day for travel, and the sixth and seventh games, if necesary, will be played in the NL park, Wed., Oct. 10, and Thurs. Oct. 11.

The exception to this schedule would be in the event of a series between the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Los Angeles Angels, in which case there would be no travel dates and the games would be played on consecutive days.

All games will start at 1 p.m. local time — the time in the city in which they are played. The exception to this would be any games in San Francisco, which would start at noon San Francisco time.

Angels Top Birds In 10th Frame, 5-4

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The Los Angeles Angels scored two runs in the 10th inning and then used three pitchers in the bottom of the inning to hold on for a 5-4 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Friday night.

Leon Wagner opened the 10th with a double, his fourth hit, off losing pitcher Dick Luebke, who was then replaced by Hoyt Wilhelm. Bob Rodgers laid down a sacrifice bunt and both runners were safe when Wagner beat Wilhelm's throw to third base.

Felix Torres then scored Wagner with a sacrifice fly and Rodgers went to second and scored on George Thomas' single.

The Orioles battled back in the 10th on a double by Russ Snyder and a run-scoring single by Brooks Robinson with none out.

Lefthander Ted Bowsfield replaced winning pitcher Dan Osinski and struck out Jim Gentile. Tom Morgan then came on and got the final two outs.

Baltimore had tied the score at 3-3 with two out in the ninth when pinchhitter Charlie Lau doubled and pinchhitter Jackie Brandt scored him with a single.

Keyser High School suffered its first defeat on the opening day of the football season in ten years yesterday when Martinsburg High School's Bulldogs downed the Golden Tornado at Keyser by the score of 13-7.

Keyser had won nine consecutive opening day engagements since losing to Morgantown in 1952 and had blanked Martinsburg in 1961 by the score of 6-0 and in 1960 by the score of 33-0.

A 14-yard touchdown run by Jimmie Shields, Martinsburg halfback, in the final quarter enabled Coach Dick Harmison's Bulldogs to score a come-from-behind victory after Keyser had taken a 7-6 lead in the third quarter. John Reuter ran the extra point to give the Berkeley coutains a six-point margin at the finish. Keyser got off a bad kick to its own 35 to set the stage for the Bulldogs' winning drive.

Martinsburg scored the first touchdown of the game in the second period when Doug Stewart fired a 32-yard pass to John Hylton for the six-pointer.

In the third quarter, Charles "Chuck" Bradfield, raced 90 yards to the Martinsburg 10 before being brought down. Three plays later, Bradfield slammed over from the two for Keyser's lone td. He also ran the point to give KHS a 7-6 advantage.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends, neighbors and relatives who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved wife and mother, Mrs. Mary Edna Cuthbertson. We especially thank the pallbearers, those who sent flowers, those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral and all others who in any manner rendered assistance. To all we are indeed grateful.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends, neighbors and relatives who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved wife and mother, Mrs. Mary Edna Cuthbertson. We especially thank the pallbearers, those who sent flowers, those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral and all others who in any manner rendered assistance. To all we are indeed grateful.

Zoning Board Adopts County Highway Plan

The Allegany County Planning and Zoning Commission Thursday adopted a resolution for a Major Highway Plan at a meeting at the commission office at the Court House.

It will provide for an orderly development which will require the programming of road improvements, the protection and securing of rights-of-way and raising funds on the basis of a comprehensive, technical Major Highway Plan.

C. Lee Renaud, county planner, said it is required by law for the adoption of the Major Highway Plan before the commission can adopt subdivision regulations.

In this connection, there will be a public hearing Thursday, September 27, at 7:30 p. m. at the commission office on the proposed subdivision regulations. Persons interested in the subdivision regulations may attend the session.

Renaud said the highway plan adopted Thursday can be used as a guide in developing a balanced road system for the county and in preparing this plan, the Planning Commission has made comprehensive surveys and studies of present conditions and anticipated future growth of the county.

The Planning Commission reviewed several comments which were brought up at the public hearing for the Major Highway Plan and decided on one change.

It was felt that the proposed connection between Cash Valley Road via Weires Avenue to U. S. 40 should be located to the north of Weires Avenue. This would eliminate the use of Weires Avenue as an arterial collector type of road and thereby eliminate some traffic congestion which might result.

The addition of this new connection would provide a feeder route which would be an important link for the residents of the developing Cash Valley section to the developing commercial areas of LaVale and provide a good access route to the Cumberland Thruway. In addition, this road would open up the valley for new construction.

Allegany Has Confusion Over School Time

Some confusion has been created at Allegany High School due to the staggered class schedule for junior and senior high students, according to Dr. W. Ardell Haines, principal.

Most of the confusion has resulted from students who walk to school, Dr. Haines said, explaining that some of the senior high pupils have been arriving late for the start of classes, while many of the seventh and eighth graders have been arriving so early as to create confusion in the corridors.

The principal noted that the doors of Allegany High are opened at 7:50 a. m. daily, Monday through Friday, with the "tardy" bell rung at 8:10 a. m. Walking students apparently have not timed themselves well enough to be in class on time, Dr. Haines said.

Junior high classes, seventh and eighth grades, start one hour later than senior high, and many of the walking students arrive much too early, jamming corridors and creating confusion, Dr. Haines says.

Students are asked to time their arrival for no more than 20 minutes to a half-hour before the start of classes, the principal said.

Bus students have posed no problem, he added, since they arrive from five to 10 minutes prior to classes.

Dr. Haines said the school gymnasium will be opened for pupils arriving early in inclement weather.

Finan Favors Authority For State Police

Restrictions on operational authority of Maryland State Police should be lifted by the General Assembly to give them broad powers for criminal investigation work anywhere in the state, Thomas B. Finan, attorney general, said in a report to Governor Tawes Thursday.

He said a law restricting the State Police from acting within a city or town with its own force, with certain exceptions, should be amended to make the "State Police force one in fact as well as in name."

Under existing state law and departmental policy until recently, the State Police is primarily a highway patroling force, Finan pointed out.

He said, however, troopers are given extensive police training and are in many areas of the state virtually the only trained officers.

The law now prevents the department from operating within an incorporated municipality except in pursuit of a suspect, searching for a suspect of a crime committed outside the city, or interviewing witnesses to such a crime, when invited by the mayor or chief of police or on direct orders of the governor.

Finan declared that since there is no other police force operating all over the state, these restrictions should be lifted so that their splendid training can be put to better use.

Legislation was introduced to amend the original law, in the last session of the General Assembly. It passed the House of Delegates, but died in the Senate.

With proper preparation, a bill similar to that one could be passed next year, Finan opined.

His recommendation was based on a report to him by Ernest N. Cory Jr., a special assistant attorney general named last year to study and recommend methods of combating large-scale intrastate crime.

Out of Cory's earlier studies came the State Police special intelligence unit, which Finan, in his report to the Governor, urged be expanded.

Upon reviewing the findings of the intelligence unit Finan indicated there is no seriously important organized crime of racketeering on the part of large national criminals based in this state.

He did say that there is evidence indicating that "there are individuals operating within this state who may be viewed as 'big racketeers'. Their identities or locations were not given.

Heart Drive Total $21,054

Residents of Allegany County have contributed $21,054.85 to the Heart Fund's 1962 campaign.

The announcement was made yesterday by James W. Webster Jr. who noted that the total is ahead of last year's contribution of $19,496.66.

Webster gave special credit to the 1,500 women in the county who collected $11,416.67 in a door-to-door canvass on Heart Sunday in February under the leadership of Mrs. William H. Macy, Heart Sunday chairman.

Business in two counties provided $2,940.05 for the local Heart Association's program of research, community service and education.

Memorial contributions, given by friends and relatives in honor of the deceased are assuming an increasingly important role in Heart Association work, according to Dr. G. O. Himmelwright, president of the association. During the 1961-62 fiscal year, $578.50 was received by the association in memorials.

The total contribution of the state of Maryland to the national heart drive was $578.020.63, largest in the state's history. The grand total of all fifty states is expected to exceed $27,000,000.00.

Road Position Titles Changed

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners approved recommendations of Harry T. Skelly, county roads supervisor, on certain changes in the classification of workers in the Roads Department.

Skelly said that the changes in classification of some workers will eliminate inequities and provide a higher rate of pay for some men. The higher rate of pay will be retroactive to July 1 of the amount they would have received.

Skelly said the sum to be paid is not very large but that the workers entitled to the higher classification should be paid to correct the inequity. He also told the board that there will be additional changes which he will recommend in the near future.

Skelly's recommendation that David M. Cain, Paul J. Ritchie and John F. Donahue be reclassified to Class 10, laborer Roads Department, was also approved by the board. The men had been in a classification which was not listed under the book of classifications. The new classification will be effective Monday. The pay scale of the men, who only recently were placed on probationary status with the department, will range from $3,100 to $3,850 under the increment program.

Woman Given Suspended Term In Theft

Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey yesterday sentenced Mary Katherine Nesbit to not more than three years in the Maryland Reformatory for Women on a larceny charge but suspended the term and placed her on probation.

The woman was charged with taking $182 from the LaVale Rexall Drug Store on or about May 25. Since that time she has made restitution of the money. She was ordered to report to James Lewis, state probation officer, during her probation time.

Noel Speir Cook was counsel for the defendant by court appointment.

James S. Getty, state's attorney, presented the case to the court on a criminal information.

Three other criminal informations have been filed by the state's attorney in the past several days charging county residents with fraud in obtaining welfare payments.

One of these informations charged John C. Bloss and Margaret Bloss with fraudulently obtained $545.50 from the County Welfare Board between April 15, 1959, and December 15, 1961.

Another accused Grace Wells of obtaining $316.73 to which she was not entitled between September 1960, and December 31, 1961.

The third information charged Marvin Alt with fraudulently obtaining $323 between February 1, 1960, and January 31, 1961.

The hearings will be held Thursday at 10 a.m.

LaVale Dwelling Permits Issued

Two more building permits for new dwellings in Election District 29, LaVale, have been issued by James G. Stevenson, clerk to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Marcellus Donahue, 6 Orchard Street, LaVale, obtained a permit for a 93 by 135 foot brick veneer dwelling to be built at the corner of Braddock and Helen streets, LaVale.

Harold Moon, McHenry Street, LaVale, was issued a permit for a 26 by 40 foot frame dwelling but its specific location was not listed.

Zoning Board Adopts County Highway Plan

The Allegany County Planning and Zoning Commission Thursday adopted a resolution for a Major Highway Plan at a meeting at the commission office at the Court House.

It will provide for an orderly development which will require the programming of road improvements, the protection and securing of rights-of-way and raising funds on the basis of a comprehensive, technical Major Highway Plan.

C. Lee Renaud, county planner, said it is required by law for the adoption of the Major Highway Plan before the commission can adopt subdivision regulations.

In this connection, there will be a public hearing Thursday, September 27, at 7:30 p. m. at the commission office on the proposed subdivision regulations. Persons interested in the subdivision regulations may attend the session.

Renaud said the highway plan adopted Thursday can be used as a guide in developing a balanced road system for the county and in preparing this plan, the Planning Commission has made comprehensive surveys and studies of present conditions and anticipated future growth of the county.

The Planning Commission reviewed several comments which were brought up at the public hearing for the Major Highway Plan and decided on one change. It was felt that the proposed connection between Cash Valley Road via Weires Avenue to U. S. 40 should be located to the north of Weires Avenue. This would eliminate the use of Weires Avenue as an arterial collector type of road and thereby eliminate some traffic congestion which might result.

The addition of this new connection would provide a feeder route which would be an important link for the residents of the developing Cash Valley section to the developing commercial areas of LaVale and provide a good access route to the Cumberland Thruway. In addition, this road would open up the valley for new construction.

Allegany Has Confusion Over School Time

Some confusion has been created at Allegany High School due to the staggered class schedule for junior and senior high students, according to Dr. W. Ardell Haines, principal.

Most of the confusion has resulted from students who walk to school, Dr. Haines said, explaining that some of the senior high pupils have been arriving late for the start of classes, while many of the seventh and eighth graders have been arriving so early as to create confusion in the corridors.

The principal noted that the doors of Allegany High are opened at 7:50 a. m. daily, Monday through Friday, with the "tardy" bell rung at 8:10 a. m. Walking students apparently have not timed themselves well enough to be in class on time, Dr. Haines said.

Junior high classes, seventh and eighth grades, start one hour later than senior high, and many of the walking students arrive much too early, jamming corridors and creating confusion, Dr. Haines says.

Students are asked to time their arrival for no more than 20 minutes to a half-hour before the start of classes, the principal said.

Bus students have posed no problem, he added, since they arrive from five to 10 minutes prior to classes.

Dr. Haines said the school gymnasium will be opened for pupils arriving early in inclement weather.

Finan Favors Authority For State Police

Restrictions on operational authority of Maryland State Police should be lifted by the General Assembly to give them broad powers for criminal investigation work anywhere in the state, Thomas B. Finan, attorney general, said in a report to Governor Tawes Thursday.

He said a law restricting the State Police from acting within a city or town with its own force, with certain exceptions, should be amended to make the "State Police force one in fact as well as in name."

Under existing state law and departmental policy until recently, the State Police is primarily a highway patroling force, Finan pointed out.

He said, however, troopers are given extensive police training and are in many areas of the state virtually the only trained officers.

The law now prevents the department from operating within an incorporated municipality except in pursuit of a suspect, searching for a suspect of a crime committed outside the city, or interviewing witnesses to such a crime, when invited by the mayor or chief of police or on direct orders of the governor.

Finan declared that since there is no other police force operating all over the state, these restrictions should be lifted so that their splendid training can be put to better use.

Legislation was introduced to amend the original law, in the last session of the General Assembly. It passed the House of Delegates, but died in the Senate.

With proper preparation, a bill similar to that one could be passed next year, Finan opined.

His recommendation was based on a report to him by Ernest N. Cory Jr., a special assistant attorney general named last year to study and recommend methods of combating large-scale intrastate crime.

Out of Cory's earlier studies came the State Police special intelligence unit, which Finan, in his report to the Governor, urged be expanded.

Upon reviewing the findings of the intelligence unit Finan indicated there is no seriously important organized crime of racketeering on the part of large national criminals based in this state.

He did say that there is evidence indicating that "there are individuals operating within this state who may be viewed as 'big racketeers'. Their identities or locations were not given.

Heart Drive Total $21,054

Residents of Allegany County have contributed $21,054.85 to the Heart Fund's 1962 campaign.

The announcement was made yesterday by James W. Webster Jr. who noted that the total is ahead of last year's contribution of $19,496.66.

Webster gave special credit to the 1,500 women in the county who collected $11,416.67 in a door-to-door canvass on Heart Sunday in February under the leadership of Mrs. William H. Macy, Heart Sunday chairman.

Business in two counties provided $2,940.05 for the local Heart Association's program of research, community service and education.

Memorial contributions, given by friends and relatives in honor of the deceased are assuming an increasingly important role in Heart Association work, according to Dr. G. O. Himmelwright, president of the association. During the 1961-62 fiscal year, $578.50 was received by the association in memorials.

The total contribution of the state of Maryland to the national heart drive was $578.020.63, largest in the state's history. The grand total of all fifty states is expected to exceed $27,000,000.00.

Road Position Titles Changed

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners approved recommendations of Harry T. Skelly, county roads supervisor, on certain changes in the classification of workers in the Roads Department.

Skelly said that the changes in classification of some workers will eliminate inequities and provide a higher rate of pay for some men. The higher rate of pay will be retroactive to July 1 of the amount they would have received.

Skelly said the sum to be paid is not very large but that the workers entitled to the higher classification should be paid to correct the inequity. He also told the board that there will be additional changes which he will recommend in the near future.

Skelly's recommendation that David M. Cain, Paul J. Ritchie and John F. Donahue be reclassified to Class 10, laborer Roads Department, was also approved by the board. The men had been in a classification which was not listed under the book of classifications. The new classification will be effective Monday. The pay scale of the men, who only recently were placed on probationary status with the department, will range from $3,100 to $3,850 under the increment program.

Woman Given Suspended Term In Theft

Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey yesterday sentenced Mary Katherine Nesbit to not more than three years in the Maryland Reformatory for Women on a larceny charge but suspended the term and placed her on probation.

The woman was charged with taking $182 from the LaVale Rexall Drug Store on or about May 25. Since that time she has made restitution of the money. She was ordered to report to James Lewis, state probation officer, during her probation time.

Noel Speir Cook was counsel for the defendant by court appointment.

James S. Getty, state's attorney, presented the case to the court on a criminal information.

Three other criminal informations have been filed by the state's attorney in the past several days charging county residents with fraud in obtaining welfare payments.

One of these informations charged John C. Bloss and Margaret Bloss with fraudulently obtained $545.50 from the County Welfare Board between April 15, 1959, and December 15, 1961.

Another accused Grace Wells of obtaining $316.73 to which she was not entitled between September 1960, and December 31, 1961.

The third information charged Marvin Alt with fraudulently obtaining $323 between February 1, 1960, and January 31, 1961.

The hearings will be held Thursday at 10 a.m.

LaVale Dwelling Permits Issued

Two more building permits for new dwellings in Election District 29, LaVale, have been issued by James G. Stevenson, clerk to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Marcellus Donahue, 6 Orchard Street, LaVale, obtained a permit for a 93 by 135 foot brick veneer dwelling to be built at the corner of Braddock and Helen streets, LaVale.

Harold Moon, McHenry Street, LaVale, was issued a permit for a 26 by 40 foot frame dwelling but its specific location was not listed.

Boy, 3½, Is Burned To Death

Bobby R. Kaylor Succumbs At Home Near Junction, W.Va

A 3½-year-old boy was burned to death about noon yesterday when fire destroyed a small frame dwelling near Junction in Hampshire County, W. Va.

The victim was Bobby Ray Kaylor who lived at the home with his mother, three sisters, and three brothers.

Authorities said the mother, home with her two youngest children, turned on the kerosene stove to prepare lunch.

She realized she had no matches and apparently forgot to turn off the stove while she went to the home of a neighbor with the children to get some matches.

Bobby had the matches and walked ahead of his mother and brother back to the dwelling.

Boy Lights Stove

The small boy lighted the stove, and within a short time the dwelling was engulfed in flames. The mother ran toward the house and from near the front door could see her son run into a closet where his body later was found.

The heat of the fire was so intense the mother was unable to enter the home, authorities said.

When volunteer firemen from Romney arrived the roof and walls caved in. They used about 1,500 gallons of water to cool down the burning home before beginning the search for the boy.

The other brothers and sisters were in school at the time.

Fire Chief Eugene Dorsey said about 18 volunteers responded and traveled about 16 miles to the scene.

West Virginia State Police Sgt. B. L. Burner investigated the fire, which occurred at 12:10 p.m.

Funeral Tomorrow

Born in Paw Paw, W. Va. on November 5, 1958, Bobby was a son of Virginia Catherine (Batson) Taylor, near Junction and Charles T. Taylor, of Levels, W. Va.

Besides his parents he is survived by three sisters, Evalene, Shelva Ann and Rosalie, and three brothers, Roger, Dennis Jr. and Robert.

Also surviving are his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Granville Batson, Paw Paw, and his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Emma Taylor, Paw Paw.

A funeral service will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p.m. at Woodrow Church near Paw Paw with Rev. J. O. Patterson in charge. Interment will be in the Woodrow Cemetery.

The body is at the Shaffer Funeral Home in Romney.

$3.5 Million Polaris Lab Planned At ABL

Will Be Used For Propellant Work

A $3.5 million research laboratory for work on Polaris missile propellants will be constructed at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, Sen. J. Glenn Beall announced yesterday.

The announcement said the Navy's Special Projects Officer is issuing the contract to Hercules Powder Company, which operates ABL for the Navy.

The new facility will be used "in connection with the Polaris propellant development program," Sen. Beall said.

ABL has been working on development of the second-stage motor of Polaris missiles for several years. Current work there involves the second stage for the new, longer range A-3 Polaris.

The A-3 is designed for 2,500 miles range, or 1,000 miles more than the presently operational A-2. The Navy says the A-3 is four-fifths new, with a guidance package only one-third the size of the A-2 package.

The new missile is bullet-shaped, in contrast to the bottle shape of earlier models, but the basic envelope—31½ feet long 54 inches in diameter — is the same.

A filament-wound fiberglass casing replaces the steel casing of the first stage, made by Aerojet-General. The ABL second stage retains the filament-wound fiberglass casing used in the A-2.

Jetevators used to control the first stage in the A-1 and A-2 versions of the Polaris have been replaced by a system of rotating nozzles, a method that was used to control the second stage of the A-2. The second stage of the A-2 is controlled by fluid injection into the nozzle, which deflects the flame and causes a change in direction of thrust.

Downtown Drawings Available

The Chamber of Commerce announced yesterday it has received drawings from Dr. Milton S. Osborne, head of the School of Architecture of Penn State University, showing his recommendations for improving the faces of downtown business houses.

Robert C. Petersen, manager, said the drawings may be seen and picked up at the Chamber office.

Photographs were taken last month of all buildings on Baltimore Street between Mechanic and George streets and were forwarded to Dr. Osborne as part of the Downtown Cumberland Business Association's pilot operation for improvement of Baltimore Street.

Dr. Osborne made drawings of the buildings with recommendations to bring out the best features of existing structures by the use of decorations, plants and paint, tying all buildings together while creating an artistic new look for the entire area.

Ike Helps Mac Open Campaign For Re-election

Former President Visits Mathias Farm

FREDERICK (AP) — Former President Dwight David Eisenhower spent more than an hour Friday at a Republican rally on the farm of a Maryland congressman, chatting and shaking hands with hundreds of party workers.

It was Eisenhower's first appearance at a political gathering sinnce his return Aug. 31 from a trip to Europe.

About 1,000 persons—Maryland GOP leaders and precinct workers—attended the rally on the farm of Rep. Charles McC. Mathias Jr. R-Md., about two miles south of Frederick.

Eisenhower, arriving by automobile from his farm at Gettysburg, Pa., posed for photographs with party candidates in Mathias' home and, after answering questions of persons in the crowd from the front porch, walked over the grounds meeting and talking with people.

Cuba An Issue?

One of the questions was whether Cuba would be an issue in the general election campaign. "Foreign relations are the responsibility of the President of the United States," Eisenhower replied, "and foreign policy should not be the object of partisan fighting."

The former President said the national debt, taxes and the U.S. economy would be among the major campaign issues.

Eisenhower denounced what he called the cloud dwellers of the New Frontier.

"Republicans are now in the minority in the country and in Congress, but we are doing much to stop some of the cloud dwellers from going off to the far horizons of the New Frontier," he said.

"Sometimes we are called the against party, but why shouldn't we be against a lot of things?"

Before leaving, Eisenhower received from Mathias a rare Amelung decanter. The decanter was manufactured by John Frederick Amelung, a German who settled in Frederick County in 1789 and established the first American glass works.

Food And A Band

Those attending the rally were served food—hot dogs, hamburgers and crab cakes—in green and white tents on the lawn. A band provided entertainment.

Mathias, who is seeking election to a second term, said the turnout was encouraging. "This turnout . . . is a wonderful response to the opening of the campaign and can mean only one thing — victory," the congressional candidate said.

Other GOP candidates attending the rally were Frank Small Jr., nominee for Maryland governor; Edward T. Miller, candidate for U.S. Senate; all of the party's candidates for Congress; former Maryland Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin; Sen. J. Glenn Beall, R-Md., and former Congressman James P. Devereux.

Adoption Agencies Seek Homes For Negro Children

The Maryland State Department of Public Welfare is seeking adoptive homes for Negro children.

Miss Ethel Wilderman, director of the Allegany County Welfare Board, said most child-placing agencies in the state have great difficulty in finding adoptive homes for Negro children and as a result, many of these children run the risk of growing up troubled and unhappy because they have no families of their own.

The county welfare unit is one of these adpotion agencies and has all the necessary information concerning the adoption procedure. However, there are certain facts that many prospective couples are unaware of, regarding adopting children.

Couples do not have to be wealthy to adopt a child. All that is required is that the family have enough income to support a child.

Also, there is no age requirement for adoptive couples, but agencies attempt to have the age of the parents and the child in keeping with the natural age relationship for families.

In the case of Negro children, there is little or no waiting 'once a couple makes a request to adopt a child. The agency and the couple work together to select the child, but the couple has the final decision whether it wants to adopt a certain child or not.

At the present time there are several hundred Negro children under the care of private and public social agencies in the state who are available for adoption.

Persons interested in additional information about adopting Negro children may contact Miss Wilderman at the Welfare Board, 301 Cumberland Street.

Bowling Green Firemen Plan Drill Tomorrow

Volunteer firemen of Bowling Green will conduct a drill tomorrow afternoon.

They are to meet at the fire hall at 1 p.m. The purpose of the drill, according to line officers, is to test the company's 2½-inch hose to meet the specifications of the Maryland Fire Underwriters Association.

The association is now in the process of making a survey of other fire companies in the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association.

The Bowling Green firemen are now collecting solicitation cards which were distributed in May throughout the area served by the firefighters.

William O'Neal, chairman of the solicitation program, said the money received by the firemen is used for the purchase and maintenance of equipment.

Blacktopping Begins Monday

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum said yesterday that the contractor has finished laying base on streets around the Jane Frazier Village Housing project and that work will get under way Monday on laying a one-and-one-half-inch blacktop surface and curbing on First Street and Memorial and Somerville avenues.

Mr. Nuzum said the cost for blacktopping and curbing the three streets amounts to $8,502. This includes $3,272 for First Street; $2,742, Memorial Avenue, and $2,482 for Somerville Avenue.

Orrie Sensabaugh was the contractor for the base work and Cumberland Contracting Company for the blacktop and curb work.

Registrars Visit LaVale Today

Nine Republicans and four Democrats registered yesterday as the touring substitute registrars of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors visited Ellerslie and Corriganville.

Francis Thompson, Democrat, and Charles Llewellyn, Republican, registered two Democrats and one Republican yesterday afternoon. Last night they were a little busier as they signed up two Democrats and eight Republicans.

Today and Monday they are expecting a greater surge in voter registration as the September 24 deadline draws nearer. They will be at LaVale Fire Hall from 2 until 5 p.m. and from 6 until 9 p.m. today. On Monday they will visit Allegany Ballistics Laboratory from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. and from 2 until 5 p.m.

Search For Gas And Oil Likely In Allegany County

BALTIMORE (AP)—A full-scale search for oil and gas in the hills of Western Maryland may not be far off.

After more than a year's study, Maryland officials have prepared forms for obtaining bids and granting leases for wildcat drilling on some 6,000 acres near the border of Allegany and Washington counties. The state owns the property.

The State Board of Public Works must now determine the details of the bidding producer. One oil company executive estimated last year that the state might earn $650,000 to $1 million a year.

Andrew Heubeck Jr., secretary to the Board of Public Works, said the leases now under consideration would be the state's first venture into the awarding of drilling rights.

He said some companies already have such rights on state land, but that they were acquired before the property was bought by the state.

Officials of Phillips Petroleum Co. had proposed exploratory drilling on state property in October 1960 and again in May 1961.

Phillips, which said it owned the rights to much of the surrounding privately owned land, wanted to negotiate for leases on the state-owned park land.

At the same time, Dr. Joseph T. Sindewald, state geologist, said exploratory drilling would harm the lands "for the purpose for which they were acquired."

Injured In Fall

Mrs. Margaret L. Smith, 91, of 631 Baltimore Avenue, was admitted to Memorial Hospital last night with a possible fractured right hip she received in a fall at her home.

Girl, 2, Falls Into Stream, Saves Herself

A two-year-old Corriganville girl apparently saved herself from drowning yesterday after she fell into a dammed section of Jennings Run near her home.

The girl, Eva M. DeVore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey DeVore, fell into a section of the stream which is for swimming and managed to get herself to the side of the run.

The small girl, who will be three in January, was following her older brother across the dam when she fell into the water. The brother was some distance away and saw the incident. However his sister made it to the bank before he got back to the stream.

Land Owners Ask Court To Close Road

Owners of a 376-acre tract in Election District 24 have filed an equity suit in Allegany County Circuit Court seeking an injunction to close a road over their property being used by timber cutters on adjacent land.

James Ellis Broadwater and Nina Louise Broadwater, his wife, Consolidation Village, Frostburg, brought the action against Clifford Bennett, Eckhart Mines; A. J. Paton, his agents, servants and employes, RFD 1, Meyersdale, Pa.

In their petition, the Broadwater note that they own 376 acres about two miles northeast of the village of Parkersburg in Election District 24. Mr. Bennett owns an adjacent tract of land and Mr. Patton operates a sawmill and lumber company in Meyersdale.

About May 1, according to the bill of complaint, Mr. Bennett sold timber rights on his tract to Stanley Lepley and Galen Lepley. They in turn sold the rights to Mr. Patton.

The Broadwaters assert that the defendants used bulldozers and other equipment to open a road through the Broadwaters' land and in so doing uprooted young trees and topsoil. About June 1 the defendants began hauling timber over the new roadway. The complainants say they have requested a settlement of the damage but none has been offered.

In conclusion, they ask the court to issue a mandatory injunction closing the road to the defendants and an award for the damages they say they have sustained.

John C. Sullivan is attorney for the complainants. William R. Carscaden and Gorman E. Getty represent the defendants.

State AFL-CIO Votes To Back Tawes Slate

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gov. Tawes and the other members of the Democratic ticket won the support Friday of the Maryland-District of Columbia AFL-CIO.

Delegates to the state labor organization voted, with little dissent, to support Tawes, whom they had rejected in favor of George P. Mahoney in the primary election campaign.

Other members of the ticket are Daniel B. Brewster for U. S. Senate, Thomas B. Finan for attorney general, Louis L. Goldstein for comptroller and Carlton R. Sickles for congressman-at-large.

The Maryland-District f Columbia AFL-CIO claims to represent more than 200,000 workers.

Woodrow F. Strong, president of the organization, said the only choice facing labor leaders in November was between Gov. Tawes and no gubernatorial endorsement at all.

The record of Frank Small Jr., he said, made labor's support of him impossible. Small is Tawes' Republican opponent.

Last August, Strong had said the governor and his slate would not be able to count on organized labor's support in this year's elections. He had condemned the Tawes Administration as "one disappointment after another."

Friday, however, Strong said the new endorsements "meant a pledge to work hard for the whole ticket."

Boy, 3½, Is Burned To Death

Bobby R. Kaylor Succumbs At Home Near Junction, W.Va

A 3½-year-old boy was burned to death about noon yesterday when fire destroyed a small frame dwelling near Junction in Hampshire County, W. Va.

The victim was Bobby Ray Kaylor who lived at the home with his mother, three sisters, and three brothers.

Authorities said the mother, home with her two youngest children, turned on the kerosene stove to prepare lunch.

She realized she had no matches and apparently forgot to turn off the stove while she went to the home of a neighbor with the children to get some matches.

Bobby had the matches and walked ahead of his mother and brother back to the dwelling.

Boy Lights Stove

The small boy lighted the stove, and within a short time the dwelling was engulfed in flames. The mother ran toward the house and from near the front door could see her son run into a closet where his body later was found.

The heat of the fire was so intense the mother was unable to enter the home, authorities said.

When volunteer firemen from Romney arrived the roof and walls caved in. They used about 1,500 gallons of water to cool down the burning home before beginning the search for the boy.

The other brothers and sisters were in school at the time.

Fire Chief Eugene Dorsey said about 18 volunteers responded and traveled about 16 miles to the scene.

West Virginia State Police Sgt. B. L. Burner investigated the fire, which occurred at 12:10 p.m.

Funeral Tomorrow

Born in Paw Paw, W. Va. on November 5, 1958, Bobby was a son of Virginia Catherine (Batson) Taylor, near Junction and Charles T. Taylor, of Levels, W. Va.

Besides his parents he is survived by three sisters, Evalene, Shelva Ann and Rosalie, and three brothers, Roger, Dennis Jr. and Robert.

Also surviving are his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Granville Batson, Paw Paw, and his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Emma Taylor, Paw Paw.

A funeral service will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p.m. at Woodrow Church near Paw Paw with Rev. J. O. Patterson in charge. Interment will be in the Woodrow Cemetery.

The body is at the Shaffer Funeral Home in Romney.

$3.5 Million Polaris Lab Planned At ABL

Will Be Used For Propellant Work

A $3.5 million research laboratory for work on Polaris missile propellants will be constructed at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, Sen. J. Glenn Beall announced yesterday.

The announcement said the Navy's Special Projects Officer is issuing the contract to Hercules Powder Company, which operates ABL for the Navy.

The new facility will be used "in connection with the Polaris propellant development program," Sen. Beall said.

ABL has been working on development of the second-stage motor of Polaris missiles for several years. Current work there involves the second stage for the new, longer range A-3 Polaris.

The A-3 is designed for 2,500 miles range, or 1,000 miles more than the presently operational A-2. The Navy says the A-3 is four-fifths new, with a guidance package only one-third the size of the A-2 package.

The new missile is bullet-shaped, in contrast to the bottle shape of earlier models, but the basic envelope—31½ feet long 54 inches in diameter — is the same.

A filament-wound fiberglass casing replaces the steel casing of the first stage, made by Aerojet-General. The ABL second stage retains the filament-wound fiberglass casing used in the A-2.

Jetevators used to control the first stage in the A-1 and A-2 versions of the Polaris have been replaced by a system of rotating nozzles, a method that was used to control the second stage of the A-2. The second stage of the A-2 is controlled by fluid injection into the nozzle, which deflects the flame and causes a change in direction of thrust.

Downtown Drawings Available

The Chamber of Commerce announced yesterday it has received drawings from Dr. Milton S. Osborne, head of the School of Architecture of Penn State University, showing his recommendations for improving the faces of downtown business houses.

Robert C. Petersen, manager, said the drawings may be seen and picked up at the Chamber office.

Photographs were taken last month of all buildings on Baltimore Street between Mechanic and George streets and were forwarded to Dr. Osborne as part of the Downtown Cumberland Business Association's pilot operation for improvement of Baltimore Street.

Dr. Osborne made drawings of the buildings with recommendations to bring out the best features of existing structures by the use of decorations, plants and paint, tying all buildings together while creating an artistic new look for the entire area.

Ike Helps Mac Open Campaign For Re-election

Former President Visits Mathias Farm

FREDERICK (AP) — Former President Dwight David Eisenhower spent more than an hour Friday at a Republican rally on the farm of a Maryland congressman, chatting and shaking hands with hundreds of party workers.

It was Eisenhower's first appearance at a political gathering sinnce his return Aug. 31 from a trip to Europe.

About 1,000 persons—Maryland GOP leaders and precinct workers—attended the rally on the farm of Rep. Charles McC. Mathias Jr. R-Md., about two miles south of Frederick.

Eisenhower, arriving by automobile from his farm at Gettysburg, Pa., posed for photographs with party candidates in Mathias' home and, after answering questions of persons in the crowd from the front porch, walked over the grounds meeting and talking with people.

Cuba An Issue?

One of the questions was whether Cuba would be an issue in the general election campaign. "Foreign relations are the responsibility of the President of the United States," Eisenhower replied, "and foreign policy should not be the object of partisan fighting."

The former President said the national debt, taxes and the U.S. economy would be among the major campaign issues.

Eisenhower denounced what he called the cloud dwellers of the New Frontier.

"Republicans are now in the minority in the country and in Congress, but we are doing much to stop some of the cloud dwellers from going off to the far horizons of the New Frontier," he said.

"Sometimes we are called the against party, but why shouldn't we be against a lot of things?"

Before leaving, Eisenhower received from Mathias a rare Amelung decanter. The decanter was manufactured by John Frederick Amelung, a German who settled in Frederick County in 1789 and established the first American glass works.

Food And A Band

Those attending the rally were served food—hot dogs, hamburgers and crab cakes—in green and white tents on the lawn. A band provided entertainment.

Mathias, who is seeking election to a second term, said the turnout was encouraging. "This turnout . . . is a wonderful response to the opening of the campaign and can mean only one thing — victory," the congressional candidate said.

Other GOP candidates attending the rally were Frank Small Jr., nominee for Maryland governor; Edward T. Miller, candidate for U.S. Senate; all of the party's candidates for Congress; former Maryland Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin; Sen. J. Glenn Beall, R-Md., and former Congressman James P. Devereux.

Adoption Agencies Seek Homes For Negro Children

The Maryland State Department of Public Welfare is seeking adoptive homes for Negro children.

Miss Ethel Wilderman, director of the Allegany County Welfare Board, said most child-placing agencies in the state have great difficulty in finding adoptive homes for Negro children and as a result, many of these children run the risk of growing up troubled and unhappy because they have no families of their own.

The county welfare unit is one of these adpotion agencies and has all the necessary information concerning the adoption procedure. However, there are certain facts that many prospective couples are unaware of, regarding adopting children.

Couples do not have to be wealthy to adopt a child. All that is required is that the family have enough income to support a child.

Also, there is no age requirement for adoptive couples, but agencies attempt to have the age of the parents and the child in keeping with the natural age relationship for families.

In the case of Negro children, there is little or no waiting once a couple makes a request to adopt a child. The agency and the couple work together to select the child, but the couple has the final decision whether it wants to adopt a certain child or not.

At the present time there are several hundred Negro children under the care of private and public social agencies in the state who are available for adoption.

Persons interested in additional information about adopting Negro children may contact Miss Wilderman at the Welfare Board, 301 Cumberland Street.

The Council of the Alleghenies, an organization of citizens of Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia interested in promoting the highland area, will have its fall meeting at 3 p.m. today at Dulany's Restaurant along U.S. Route 40 at Youghiogheny Lake near Addison, Pa., 40 miles west of Cumberland.

Dr. Alta Schrock of Grantsville has served as acting chairman of the organization since its first preliminary meeting last December. The first membership meeting was held at the Will O' The Wisp Restaurant along Deep Creek Lake. The second, in June, was at Blackwater Lodge in Blackwater Falls State Park in Tucker County, W. Va.

Officers will be elected at today's meeting. Thomas F. Conlon Jr. of Cumberland is a member of the nominating committee appointed in June.

After the afternoon meeting, the group will have dinner at Dulany's at 6:30 p.m.

Drive To Sign Up Unlisted Voters Gets Under Way

BALTIMORE (AP) — A campaign was started Friday to get the 570,000 eligible but unregistered voters in Maryland to register by the deadline of Sept. 24.

Groups represented at a meeting included the League of Women Voters, AFL-CIO State Committee of Political Education; Maryland State Junior Chamber of Commerce, Civic Interest Group, Maryland State Teachers Association, and the Maryland conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

State AFL-CIO Votes To Back Tawes Slate

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gov. Tawes and the other members of the Democratic ticket won the support Friday of the Maryland-District of Columbia AFL-CIO.

Delegates to the state labor organization voted, with little dissent, to support Tawes, whom they had rejected in favor of George P. Mahoney in the primary election campaign.

Other members of the ticket are Daniel B. Brewster for U. S. Senate, Thomas B. Finan for attorney general, Louis L. Goldstein for comptroller and Carlton R. Sickles for congressman-at-large.

The Maryland-District f Columbia AFL-CIO claims to represent more than 200,000 workers.

Woodrow F. Strong, president of the organization, said the only choice facing labor leaders in November was between Gov. Tawes and no gubernatorial endorsement at all.

The record of Frank Small Jr., he said, made labor's support of him impossible. Small is Tawes' Republican opponent.

Last August, Strong had said the governor and his slate would not be able to count on organized labor's support in this year's elections. He had condemned the Tawes Administration as "one disappointment after another."

Friday, however, Strong said the new endorsements "meant a pledge to work hard for the whole ticket."

Search For Gas And Oil Likely In Allegany County

BALTIMORE (AP)—A full-scale search for oil and gas in the hills of Western Maryland may not be far off.

After more than a year's study, Maryland officials have prepared forms for obtaining bids and granting leases for wildcat drilling on some 6,000 acres near the border of Allegany and Washington counties. The state owns the property.

The State Board of Public Works must now determine the details of the bidding producer. One oil company executive estimated last year that the state might earn $650,000 to $1 million a year.

Andrew Heubeck Jr., secretary to the Board of Public Works, said the leases now under consideration would be the state's first venture into the awarding of drilling rights.

He said some companies already have such rights on state land, but that they were acquired before the property was bought by the state.

Officials of Phillips Petroleum Co. had proposed exploratory drilling on state property in October 1960 and again in May 1961.

Phillips, which said it owned the rights to much of the surrounding privately owned land, wanted to negotiate for leases on the state-owned park land.

At the same time, Dr. Joseph T. Sindewald, state geologist, said exploratory drilling would harm the lands "for the purpose for which they were acquired."

'Queen For Day' Studio Cards Show Selflessness

Jack Bailey, host of ABC-TV's "Queen For A Day," comments on "wish cards" submitted by the studio audience: "The current trend seems to reflect increasing world-mindedness and selflessness.

"Many ladies of recent months have used their cards for world peace. Even with the most prosaic wishes, such as those for a washing machine or stove, more often than not the candidate wants it so she can be more helpful to others."

Woody Woodbury Says He Uses Audience

Woody Woodbury, who succeeds Johnny Carson as permanent host of ABC-TV's "Who Do You Trust?" beginning Sept. 10, describes his act: "I'm all ad lib and I utilize the audience.

"I kid a bit and ask questions that nobody gets mad at. I incite my audiences into conversations. I kibitz 'em. A responsive audience helps make the show."

LLOYD BRIDGES

Lloyd Bridges Sees New Role 'Challenging'

One of the most ambitious series of the coming television season concerns the former denizen of the deep, Lloyd Bridges, who has turned in his aqua-lung and snorkel for a typewriter and a notebook.

The star of the long running "Sea Hunt" series has come up from the briny and dons a battered trench coat to become a free-lance writer with the whole world a. his "beat."

The new series out of Four Star is called "Kaiser Presents The Lloyd Bridges Show" with Aaron Spelling handling the familiar role of executive producer and Everett Chambers as producer. The half-hour series premieres on CBS-TV on Tuesday, September 11.

Bridges described his forthcoming role of writer "Adam Shepherd" as a "real heyday for any actor" and feels the show is the most challenging he has ever done.

"You see, as 'Adam' I will be playing an entirely different role every week," he began. "Fantastic roles—a one-man repertory theater. I start the scene as a writer doing a story about some phase of human behavior. Then I get enmeshed in what I am writing about and th camera does a dissolve and lo and behold I have become the central figure in the story I came to write about."

Although he stressed the fact that the series was in no way a vehicle with a "message," Bridges allowed that he thought the various episodes presented a favorable picture of Americans abroad.

Love Inspired 'The Hillbillies' Show

The Beverly Hillbillies, starring Buddy Ebsen with Irene Ryan, Donna Douglas and Max Baer, which premieres Wednesday, September 26, over the CBS Television Network, stems directly from an affinity that Producer Paul Henning has had for hillbillies.

The new comedy series is a story of a mountain family who suddenly find themselves with twenty-five million dollars.

Henning fell in love with the ways and manners of the hillbilly folk when, as a Boy Scout, he spent his summers camping and hiking in the Ozark Mountains.

Love Inspired 'The Hillbillies' Show

The Beverly Hillbillies, starring Buddy Ebsen with Irene Ryan, Donna Douglas and Max Baer, which premieres Wednesday, September 26, over the CBS Television Network, stems directly from an affinity that Producer Paul Henning has had for hillbillies.

The new comedy series is a story of a mountain family who suddenly find themselves with twenty-five million dollars.

Henning fell in love with the ways and manners of the hillbilly folk when, as a Boy Scout, he spent his summers camping and hiking in the Ozark Mountains.
